Japanese Coast City Shaken By Quake

DAMAGE IN DISASTER UNKNOWN

Tremors Cause Great Excitement Following Shake of Tuesday

EXPERT PREDICTS FREQUENT QUAKES

Authorities Place Number of Dead In Yesterday's Horror at 17

(By United Press Leased Wire)
TOKIO, Jan. 16.—Sendai, important market city on the bay of Sendai, Japan, was shaken at 4 a. m. today by another violent earthquake.

Reports reaching here did not enumerate damage, however, and it was not known whether the shock had serious results.

The shake at Sendai, coming as it did less than twenty-four hours after the violent earthquake of yesterday morning, caused much excitement.

Official announcement was made today placing the casualties of yesterday's tremor in Tokyo and Yokohama at seventeen dead and an undetermined number injured. Most estimates of the injured, however, were around 300.

Prof. T. Nakamura, one of the world's leading authorities on earthquakes, predicted today that earthquakes, probably of less intensity, will be frequent during the spring in the Japanese islands.

Apparently the disturbances are of volcanic origin—a continuation of the death throes of the volcano Oshima which caused the September 1 earthquake when it exploded and sank into the sea, carrying the island of Oshima with it.

Government agencies, which were organized for relief and protective work following the September disaster, were on the alert today, ready to give aid where needed. They have not been taxed by demands, however, as the situation has not become serious.

Airplane patrols are active throughout the earthquake region. Work is progressing rapidly toward restoration of railroads and communications which were disrupted by the shake of yesterday morning. Most of the telegraph lines in the vicinity of Tokyo, Yokohama and adjacent territory still are down.

JAPANESE TAKES UP EARTHQUAKE PROBLEM

TOKIO, Jan. 16.—An extraordinary session of the Japanese cabinet met today to consider the earthquake situation.

It was officially announced there had been few deaths in Tokyo and Yokohama and that about 200 persons had suffered injuries in the quake of Tuesday morning. The shock yesterday was about one-third as severe as that of September, 1923, and it is estimated that nearly 600 houses were damaged.

No foreigners and none of the Japanese royalty were injured.

New York Wins Big Democratic Convention With Pop, Peanuts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—If New Yorkers feel like hanging a medal on someone for getting the 1924 Democratic convention for that city, they might as well pin it on Tex Rickard when he gets there tonight.

Rickard, it was, who flapped a towel at the waning spirit of the New York delegation yesterday noon between the morning and afternoon rounds of the Democratic National committee when selection of the convention city hung in the balance—with San Francisco on the heavy side.

The New York delegation had about given up hope. All offers were in the hands of Clark Howell's sub-committee and San Francisco's $200,000 offer looked too big to overcome with an ante of only $150,000.

This is a recent photo of Lady Mary Thynne, whose visit to South Africa has renewed the gossip that the Prince of Wales may make her his bride. Lady Mary was one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon and the Duke of York.

AMERICAN VESSEL GOES ASHORE OFF VERA CRUZ PORT

(By United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The United States light cruiser Tacoma, recently dispatched to Vera Cruz, today went aground on Blanquilla reef, off the harbor of Vera Cruz, the navy department here was notified.

The Tacoma sent out an S. O. S. asking that assistance be rushed. The cruiser Richmond has been sent to aid the Tacoma and other naval vessels will follow.

The naval commandant at New Orleans sent the following message to the navy department here:

"S. O. S. from Cruiser Tacoma 6:40 a. m. Tacoma on Blanquilla reef near Vera Cruz and in need of immediate help."

Naval officials here were at a loss to explain the Tacoma's going aground near a well charted harbor.

Blanquilla reef is marked by a small lighthouse, which in normal times is always in operation, it was said.

Naval authorities here were notified recently that the rebel forces had caused the lights to be extinguished on lighthouses off Tampico harbor.

It was feared the light on Blanquilla reef might have likewise been extinguished, causing the Tacoma to go aground just before dawn.

U. S. SENDS PROTEST ON TAMPOCO BLOCKADE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The American government has dispatched to Adolfo de La Huerta, leader of the Mexican revolution, its protest against the blockade declared on the port of Tampico, it was said today at the state department.

The protest is being delivered to De La Huerta by John Q. Wood, American consul at Vera Cruz.

Then Rickard Stepped In

"I told them there were the radio, restaurant, peanut stand, soda pop and other concessions. I said I would give them $55,000 outright for them. That would be enough with our $150,000 to top San Francisco by $5,000."

"I said I didn't think the concessions were worth more than $15,000 but I would give them $55,000 for them anyway. The way to get what you want is to put up the dough."

Rickard's advice was taken and it won.

PICK DEADLY FUMES FOR EXECUTION

Warden Plans Use of Hydrocyanic Gas In Nevada Death Chamber

CARSON CITY, Nev., Jan. 16.—Hydrocyanic acid gas, one of the most deadly poisons known to science, will be used to asphyxiate the first men to go to death under the new Nevada law substituting death in a gas chamber for hanging as the legal method of execution.

Warden D. S. Dickerson of the state penitentiary announced the selection of the gas had been made on the recommendation of State Chemist F. G. Dinsmore.

It was selected not only because of its poisonous qualities but because it is lighter than air and can be driven easily from the death chamber after the execution is accomplished.

The gas is now widely used for the extermination of disease germs in infected places and for similar purposes.

Selection of the gas completed the details for the execution, which is to take place February 8, with the exception of the actual construction of the lethal chamber.

Possibility that only two instead of three men will be the victims of the first use of the gas method of inflicting capital punishment appeared today when Judge Joseph McNamara of Elko, Nev., refused to set a date for execution of Thomas Russell, who was to have been the third member of the trio to be "gassed" to death.

Hughie Sing and Gee Jon, San Francisco Chinese, are the two whose execution has been definitely set.

JAIL TIJUANA SUSPECT IN UPRISING

(By United Press Leased Wire)
SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 16.—Mariano Nagore, former prosecuting attorney of Tijuana, is confined in jail at Mexicali today, on suspicion of complicity with the De la Huerta insurgents.

Nagore's arrest was ordered Saturday by Gov. General Abelardo Rodriguez of the northern district, Lower California, on receipt of a telegram from the Minister of the Interior advising him to check Nagore's asserted rebel activities.

Saturino Urias, judge of the Tijuana high court, is virtually an exile from Mexico as the result of similar suspicions. Urias, who lives in San Diego, was turned back from the border by Mexican immigration officers Monday, who asserted they were acting on "orders" from superiors.

Basso, said to be an intimate of Nagore, is being prosecuted by Tijuana authorities, as a further step in the suppression of alleged rebel agitation there.

General Charles G. Dawes, chairman of the committee, and Owen D. Young, the other American representative, conferred with the British delegates and have agreed upon the advisability of scrapping the absolute secrecy now existing.

Accordingly, the experts will discuss the advisability of trying to "find a plan for compromise between ideal absolute secrecy and complete publicity."

There will be information for the public regarding matters of interest, whose publication will not harm the progress of the committee's work.

The American and British delegates arrived at this conclusion at publication of a number of inaccurate statements.

General Dawes, for instance, found it necessary to deny today that it was he who proposed summoning Herr Schacht, director of the Reichsbank, for a conference.

As a matter of fact, it was one of the Belgian members of the committee number one who had made the proposal.

Another inaccuracy General Dawes saw fit to deny was a statement that there had already been differences of opinion between delegates.

Claim Trotsky Jailed For Anti-Red Plot

PARIS, Jan. 16.—A special Moscow dispatch published here today but unconfirmed by the United Press, says it is reported in the Russian capital that Leon Trotsky, Soviet war minister has been arrested.

The Cheka or government secret police are said to have charged Trotsky with conspiracy against the soviet government, rebellion against the communist committee and disloyalty to the third international.

Trotsky, the dispatch says, was about to leave on his vacation when the arrest was ordered.

BADGE GIVES NEW CLUE TO BOLD BANDIT

Authorities Comb Monterey County In Search of Daring Los Angeles Fugitive.

SALINAS, Calif., Jan. 16.—Search for Harry J. Dunlap, "badge bandit," wanted in Los Angeles and Sacramento for murder and charged with committing many holdups throughout the southern part of the state, centered in Monterey county today.

A suit of clothes abandoned by a roadside near here with an Alameda county deputy sheriff's badge pinned to the inside of the coat, furnished the sheriff's office with its clue.

It is considered possible that Dunlap abandoned the clothing while fleeing northward after his disappearance from Los Angeles.

20 PHYSICIANS IN L. A. FACE FRAUD PROBE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 16.—Twenty Los Angeles doctors and a supposedly defunct medical college there known as the Pacific Medical College are under investigation by the state board of medical examiners today with reference to the validity of the certificates under which the doctors are practicing.

The doctors are all men who have come to California from Missouri since 1918, during the period covered by the activities of a fake medical diploma ring that has been exposed in many states recently.

"The board is looking into the high school and university credentials of the doctors under investigation rather than their medical certificates," is the statement of Dr. Charles B. Pinkham, secretary of the state board of medical examiners.

"We are pretty sure of the medical certificates, due to the precautions thrown by our state laws and the board's rules around the acceptance of such certificates," Dr. Pinkham said.

"Although the Pacific Medical College of Los Angeles filed notice with the board of its incorporation in 1918, some of its diplomas were sold for $350 each in Missouri, we are told, subsequent to that time."

"30" BULLETINS

J. R. Abernathy, Charles R. Wheeler and J. L. Findlay, charged jointly with robbing the United States mails in connection with the asserted $25,000 postal theft at Anaheim, were arraigned here late today before Maurice Enderle, deputy United States commissioner, and bail of each was set at $25,000.

A preliminary hearing before Commissioner Enderle here was set for January 26 at 10 a. m. All three prisoners were remanded back to cells, pending an effort of friends to release them under the fixed bail.

Only Abernathy was represented by counsel, Attorney W. F. Menton appearing in his behalf.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The house immigration committee today approved sections of the Johnson bill providing exclusion of Japanese immigrants. The committee also adopted an amendment for enforcement of the exclusive provisions.

JURORS EXONERATE MANAGER OF CIRCUS

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—W. W. Shaw, manager of a recent Masonic circus raided by police headed by two local ministers, was breathing the air of freedom today, following the jury's decision late yesterday which cleared him of gambling charges.

It took just three minutes for the nine men and three women to agree that Shaw's Grotto circus was not sinful, despite the testimony of the reverends Gustav Brighlegg and Bob Shuler, who declared games of chance were conducted there.

Defense claimed they were games of skill, and the jury also looked at that way.

Cripple Nabbed After Tot of S. A. Hit by Auto, Has $50,000 In Bank, Claim

Cash totaling $13,000 was found concealed in a wooden limb worn by Charles S. Stock, described as a crippled author, when he was arrested in Los Angeles on a charge of having failed to stop and render aid after his automobile was said to have run over and injured little Florence Alsop, 1407 West Fifth street, this city, according to word received here today from Los Angeles.

In addition, according to Deputies Fox and Schulz of Los Angeles, the arresting officers, Stock had on his person a bank book showing deposits of $50,000.

Prisoner at Hospital.

Stock, whom officers describe as an enthusiast over religious subjects, and who is crippled, was being detained at the county hospital here today under $1000 bail, set late yesterday at a hearing held in the street in front of the courthouse with Justice J. B. Cox presiding at the arraignment.

February 21 at 10 a. m. was set as the date for Stock's preliminary hearing on the charge, which grew out of an accident that occurred here December 18.

Stock drives about the country in an automobile making a living selling a book which he claims to have written.

Hearing Held in Street.

Yesterday's hearing here was held in the street with Stock seated in his automobile because the prisoner claims that it is impossible to use his lower limbs.

Until the complaint was read to him at his arraignment, Stock was under the impression that the Alsop girl had succumbed to her injuries.

Stock denied guilt and declared that if his car ran over the girl his chauffeur must have been driving the car.

STATE MINERAL OUTPUT SHOWS HUGE GAIN

(By United Press Leased Wire)
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—California last year established a new record for the value of its mineral production, according to preliminary estimates made by Lloyd L. Root, state mineralogist.

The estimated value of approximately $70,472,000 exceeds by $25,000,000 production value during the year 1922, and by $2,000,000 the previous record year of 1921.

The increase was due principally to the enormous output of petroleum, which itself established a record in barrels nearly double that of the previous year, or an increase of $22,000,000 over 1922.

Gold showed a decrease, but copper and lead showed increased production value. Silver also showed a decrease, due to the cessation of government purchases after last June of $1 per ounce, under the Pittman act.

All mineral items in the structural group showed increased production totals and aggregate values.

'I Was A Fool' Says Prisoner Held In Anaheim Mail Robbery

But it certainly is tough on my family. They are the ones I feel sorry for now."

J. L. Findlay, detained in the county jail here in connection with the asserted theft of $25,000 from a registered mail pouch consigned to Los Angeles by the Anaheim post office, declared here today that the "man who risks his reputation in an effort to make a little easy money," has no one to blame but himself.

"But I was not alone in this matter," he added. "There were others, and I was made the goat. There were three men in this, and we were to split the money three ways. I was to get $7,500 or $8,000 for my share."

France Stage Gain On Paris Bourse

PARIS, Jan. 16.—The French franc continued on its return trip towards normalcy today, showing a substantial gain to 21.90 to the dollar or 93.50 to the pound, both offered, while many speculators who had sold short of francs rushed to cover.

The franc continued to improve this afternoon and at 3 p. m. stood at 21.05 to the dollar and 90.35 to the pound sterling.

The head of each government department today prepared for Premier Poincare a list of every economy possible in his ministry.

FALL UNDER HOT ATTACK BY SENATOR

Speaker Likens Ex-Secretary to Benedict Arnold As Result of Oil Lease.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—"If former Secretary Fall had wanted to plead guilty of corruption in office by receiving money from the Sinclair Oil interests he could not have done it better than by the way he acted in the present senate investigation," Senator Caraway, Arkansas Democrat declared today in a speech on the floor of the senate.

Caraway likened Fall to Benedict Arnold and called him a "traitor" for leasing naval oil reserve and to be used for defense of this country to the oil interests of Harry F. Sinclair.

MELLON MAKES HOT REPLY TO MICH. SOLON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon will ignore the challenge he got from Senator Jim Couzens that they, two of the country's wealthiest men, stage a public debate on tax reduction.

Replying today to Couzens' recent letter, Mellon brusquely denied many of Couzens' arguments but said nothing about the proposed debate.

Mellon pointed to the case of Couzens himself to illustrate the contention that surtaxes on big incomes should be lowered.

Mellon said that all Couzens' capital, according to his own admission, was invested in tax exempt securities.

If, however, Mellon argued, the surtaxes had not been so high when Couzens retired and invested his capital he would for the sake of placing it in safely diversified investments, have placed some of it in taxable securities.

Mellon said that there is a particular public need for loaned surtaxes in the cases of railroads and building.

With lower surtaxes proposed in the Mellon bill, he said capital now in exempt securities would be attracted to them.

Couzens in his challenge to a debate said that when he got out of the Ford Motor company and converted his holdings into securities he "prepaid the taxes in the price of the securities."

Summing up in one sentence his reply to Couzens' criticisms of the Mellon program, Mellon said: "Must a system of taxation which permits a man with an income of over $1,000,000 a year to pay not one cent to the support of his government remain unaltered?"

Claims But $45 Received

In his asserted confession Findlay, it is claimed, told the inspectors that the three men conspired to rob the mails, although he maintained that he had received only $45.

Findlay's statements, indignantly refuted by Abernathy and Wheeler, were carefully recorded by post office inspectors seeking to locate the money which, according to Postmaster J. H. Whitaker, disappeared while in transit between the Anaheim post office and the railway station Thursday evening, December 27.

"At that time," said Abernathy, in the county jail here today, "I was not in Anaheim at all. With my wife and my mother-in-law, I was visiting friends on Thir-

EVER LOOT STILL IS MISSING

Former School Executive and Postal Clerk Deny Guilt In Robbery

CONFESSION MAN IN 'DOUBLE CROSS' CLAIM

Alibis Given By Two Who Turn on Third Suspect Implicating Them

Emphatic denial by J. R. Abernathy, former superintendent of schools of Anaheim, that he had any part in an asserted post office robbery; veiled insinuations by J. L. Findlay, former post office employee, that he had been "double-crossed"; and failure of post office inspectors and detectives to locate approximately $25,000, alleged to have been stolen from a registered mail sack in Anaheim December 27, were the highlights here today in one of the most sensational federal robberies reported in Southern California in recent years.

Abernathy, a former resident of Missouri where he, according to his statement, was a school official, has been engaged for the past year in real estate business in Anaheim. Prior to this he was superintendent of schools in Anaheim.

Employed Less Than Year

Findlay, a messenger carrying mail between the post office and the railroad stations, is a former resident of Iowa and has been employed in the Anaheim post office since last February.

Charles R. Wheeler, a clerk in the Anaheim post office, also asserted by Findlay to have been involved in the transaction, has been a resident of Anaheim for several years.

The three men today still were prisoners in the Orange county jail, following their detention late yesterday by Postoffice Inspectors C. D. Lowe and F. E. Jarvis.

According to statements by post office inspectors, who claim to have wrung a confession from Findlay, the three men were implicated in a pre-arranged plan to steal $25,000 from the registered mail consignments of the Anaheim post office.

The greater portion of this money, inspectors are asserted to have declared, was consigned by the First National bank of Anaheim to the Federal Reserve bank in Los Angeles.

In his asserted confession Findlay, it is claimed, told the inspectors that the three men conspired to rob the mails, although he maintained that he had received only $45.

Findlay's statements, indignantly refuted by Abernathy and Wheeler, were carefully recorded by post office inspectors seeking to locate the money which, according to Postmaster J. H. REPORT OF ROAD COMMITTEE OF THE ORANGE COUNTY HARBOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FOR YEAR 1923

In harmony with the policy of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce to make Newport Bay a real commercial service to a large interior region, your committee has endeavored to urge and encourage the building of various short cuts and connecting links in the established system of roadways contiguous to this harbor.

A STRAIGHTAWAY HARBOR BOULEVARD
Perhaps the most important project in the plan of connecting up tributary territory, and one which will place the north end of the county over four miles closer to the harbor, is the proposed Fullerton-Anaheim-Costa Mesa trucking highway.

Urging construction of this route, your committee interviewed city and county officials, members of the various chambers of commerce and newspaper men, circulated maps and caused items to be published in the county papers regarding this roadway.

Your committee, having assiduously broadcasted the statement made by the county engineer that, in his opinion, the county would help build the central portion of this road provided the Anaheim and Costa Mesa districts would take the initiative in starting construction, was gratified to see preliminary work begin in both these sections. This highway, when completed, will help relieve the rapidly growing congestion on the present Anaheim-Santa Ana route.

GOOD WORK AT ANAHEIM
The improvement at Anaheim will be completed in from twelve to eighteen months and will consist of the widening and paving of Palm Avenue. This north and south street in the western part of the city will connect on the north with Spadra Road, the main thoroughfare of Fullerton. Spadra Road joins both Brea and Carbon Canyons which tap the Pomona Valley on the north-east.

COSTA MESA AT THE BAT
Arrangements are being made at the Costa Mesa end to pave Fairview Avenue from the Newport Boulevard north to connect with the paving at Fairview Hot Springs. It is hoped that this paving will be completed within eighteen months.

HURRAH FOR THE JACK RABBIT
Another road improvement, work upon which is scheduled to begin this spring, is the paving of the Jack Rabbit Trail. This is a cutoff from the Ocean to Ocean Highway at Beaumont which leads in the direction of San Juan Capistrano. The Ocean to Ocean Highway carries a large tourist travel from both the Dixie Overland Highway, the Old Spanish and the Sunkist Trails. It also taps the cotton and date regions of the Imperial and Coachella Valleys. Your committee, recognizing the importance to the harbor of a short cut from Beaumont to San Juan Capistrano, to connect with the new State Coast Highway, several months ago suggested to the supervisors of Riverside County and citizens in Beaumont, Banning, San Jacinto and Hemet, the advisability of paving this road.

THROUGH THE MOUNTAINS
Regarding the prospects for work on the Lake Elsinore-San Juan Capistrano portion of this route through the Santa Ana Mountains, your committee is of the opinion that, owing to the heavier expense attached to mountain road construction, it will require a strong and insistent demand to secure action in opening up this mountain pass highway. It is hoped, however, that the co-operation of Orange and Riverside Counties may be secured and that preliminary work will be started on this project within the next three years.

FOURTEEN MILES TO THE GOOD
The proposal to pave the road through Carbon Canyon is a matter of much interest to China, Ontario and the eastern portion of the rich Pomona Valley. This improvement would, in conjunction with the building of the Fullerton-Anaheim-Costa Mesa highway, place the Ontario region some fourteen miles nearer, for trucking purposes, to Orange County's harbor.

As the expense of building this road would have to be borne by both Orange and San Bernardino Counties, your committee conferred with certain citizens and organization officials in the Ontario section and endeavored to co-operate with the object of securing an early start in the construction of this canyon road.

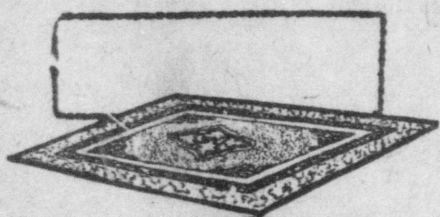

Your committee wishes to thank the many citizens, chamber of commerce members and public officials in the regions tributary to this port who, recognizing the potential value of Newport Harbor, have so cordially and generously co-operated in this preliminary work of creating a deep water harbor—a new and useful avenue of commerce—for the expanding population and industries of this most favored region of the great southwest.

Respectfully submitted,

W. C. SPENCER, Chairman

TRIO IN BIG MAIL THEFT PLOT SPLIT

11th street in Los Angeles. As far as I have been able to learn, the postal authorities claim the registered mail sack, containing $25,000, was stolen about 5:30 p. m. on that day. I have a perfect alibi, for I did not reach my home until 7 p. m.

Says Record Clear

"As for my plot to join Findlay and others in an effort to rob the mails, I am entirely innocent. I know nothing whatever of any such scheme. It is true, I have known Findlay for some time, but my relations with him have always been open.

"This is the first time I have ever been in a jail on a serious charge. I have been caught, once or twice, for speeding, but that is all. This must be a frame-up of my enemies.

"If Findlay, or anyone else has implicated me in a plan to rob the mail, they have done me a grave injustice. When I came to California from Missouri in 1919, I brought some of the finest credentials a man could have. These were from senators, congressmen and other highly respected men in Missouri. I served as superintendent of school in Missouri, as I did at Anaheim, and my record is clear."

Declares "Tip" Given

Wheeler also emphatically denied any connection with the asserted scheme to steal a United States mail sack from the Anaheim post office.

Findlay, on the other hand, while declining to make direct charges against Abernathy and Wheeler, in his statements to newspaper men, hinted that he had been made the victim of a "double crossing deal," and bitterly arraigned his asserted companions for carelessly discarding mail sacks in Santa Ana canyon.

These sacks, found by a Pasadena motorist, were delivered to the Los Angeles post office last Monday morning, according to Postmaster Whitaker.

Findlay, in discussing the case, intimated that Abernathy and Wheeler, working together, "tipped him off" to the fact that the First National bank consignment would go forward late Thursday evening, December 27.

Brands Revelations False

Wheeler, said to have been implicated by Findlay in his asserted confession, denied all knowledge of the theft other than the common knowledge of the post office staff that a pouch had been stolen and that Findlay was under suspicion. He admitted he knew that Findlay was under surveillance, but denied having told Findlay anything whatever concerning the inner workings of the post office.

The statement asserted to have been made by Findlay that the contents of the registered mail pouch were to be divided between the three men was branded as false by Wheeler. Wheeler also claims to have a perfect alibi. He declared he was ill on the date given and went him and was in bed at the time the pouch disappeared.

According to Wheeler, post office inspectors, in searching Findlay's home, found a quantity of new clothing that could not be accounted for by Findlay.

Cites Lodge Affiliations

He also asserted that Abernathy and Findlay had been friends for many months. His own friendship for Abernathy, he declared, was due to lodge affiliations. Abernathy told newspapermen he was an Odd Fellow and a Mason. Wheeler said, aside from meeting Findlay in the post office, he was not acquainted with the truck driver.

In his statement to newspaper men here today Wheeler said he was working on the adding machine, balancing his books for the previous day's business, when the package containing $22,000 from the First National bank was delivered. It was received at another window and turned over to him, as money order clerk, by the receiving clerk. He said he wrote a receipt for it, and placed it in the "rotary pouch," used in transporting registered mail. Postmaster Whitaker, he claimed, was "standing by as a witness." This pouch, he claimed, was turned over to a dispatching clerk who, in turn, gave it to Findlay for delivery to the main clerk. This pouch never reached its destination.

Postmaster Victimized

Instead, according to Postmaster Whitaker, Findlay and his associates removed this pouch from a larger bag, which they cut open with a knife, transferred other mail to a substitute pouch, delivered the substituted pouch to the railway clerk and escaped with the smaller pouch containing $22,000 in currency, sent out by the Anaheim bank, and several thousand dollars in registered letters and packages consigned to individuals in different sections of the United States.

Postmaster Whitaker, himself, was a victim of the robbers, inasmuch as a letter consigned by him to Long Beach, and containing $50, was also stolen.

Although no formal charges were preferred against the three men, all of whom are married and have families residing in Anaheim, post office inspectors instructed county authorities here to hold them pending further instructions from federal officers in Los Angeles.

Aside from $45, which Findlay claims he received as a part payment on his share of the spoils, no trace of the $25,000 has been found by federal investigators. Officers were inclined to believe it has been concealed somewhere in Orange county.

READY FOR AIR MAIL

SEATTLE, Jan. 16.—With the arrival in Seattle of a specially assigned government airplane, final preparations for the inauguration next month of Alaska's serial mail service from Nenana to McGrath, a distance of 730 miles by air, were being completed today by Warren C. Vandervoort, superintendent of railway mail service of this district. The plane will be flown by Pilot C. B. Ellison. He will make two trips a month for five months, beginning in February, logging activities.

the postoffice to the stations. I took Charles B. Wheeler, clerk in the Anaheim postoffice, for that I was a rural carrier in Iowa.

"I do not want to say too much about this matter, but they are trying to make me the goat, and I'm not going to stand for it. No, I have not been arrested. I am just held at the request of the inspectors. I have told them everything, and I know how they feel about this thing."

Findlay, while admitting that the registered pouch was opened while being transported to the train about 5:30 p. m., December 27, declined to state who cut open the mail sacks, where the robbery occurred, or what disposition was made of the money and bond coupons contained in the pouch. He was bitter in his arraignment, however, of "those fellows who did not play square" with him.

Findlay, who has a family and several children, said two of his children were scheduled to graduate in the Anaheim high school this year.

"Unless this disgrace ruins their chances," he sighed. "That's it—the innocent always have to suffer."

J. B. Abernathy, former superintendent of schools in Anaheim, and Charles B. Wheeler, clerk in the Anaheim postoffice, asserted to have been implicated in a confession by Findlay, denied all knowledge of the robbery in which Findlay is claimed by postal inspectors to have figured.

OCEAN-MAN IN LONG BATTLE ON COASTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The ceaseless pounding of the sea on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts of the United States is inexorably tearing down these shore lines of the Nation, Colonel E. Lester Jones, director of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, said today.

Winds, waves and currents have joined in an endless battle against the redoubts of the coasts and irresistibly are eating the beaches landward, toppling earth, trees, and even towns, into the booming surf, Jones declared.

In time of storm, the zone of shallow water adjacent to the shore is like some huge mill in which the materials subject to wave action are torn from their resting places, seized upon by the whirling waters and borne away to find an eventual resting place in the sheltered bays and lagoons, or in offshore depths so great that wave attack can have no appreciable effect on the bottom," the veteran chief of the charting division of the government said.

"Until comparatively recent years these beaches were, as a rule, desolate, uninhabited stretches of sand dunes and undergrowth of no economic importance," Jones continued. "Recently, however, the development of better transportation facilities, as exemplified by the motorboat, the automobile and trolley, has made them accessible to the great centers of population adjacent to the coast, with the result that millions of people now visit them annually in search of relief from the more rigorous climatic conditions of the neighboring cities.

Attacked by Sea

"The rule has been that within a short time after these seaside resorts have come into existence they have been confronted with the necessity of finding some means of checking this encroachment of the sea upon their improved properties.

"To this struggle they have devoted themselves with an earnestness born of the realization that their continued existence depends upon a successful outcome of the fight.

"Yet in these fights the sea, in a deplorable number of cases, has been the victor. Some communities have succeeded in at least temporarily protecting themselves. Others, however, have fought a losing fight. One can scarcely visit any long-improved section of these coasts without hearing stories of beautiful properties undermined and swept away along with the structures that have been erected in their defense, or of communities that have almost bankrupted themselves in the fight only to see the result of their efforts destroyed in some gale of unusual severity.

"The decisive part of nature's battle between sea and land is fought beneath the surface, off water, where it is invisible to the observer. Only the result can be directly seen, and this result does not indicate the vicissitudes of the struggle of which it is the outcome."

This, Jones declared, is one of the outstanding reasons for the indifferent success of efforts at protection—lack of knowledge of the precise nature and methods of the attacking forces or of the degree of resistance to attack offered by the various physiographic forms which characterized the shores.

AUTO CRASH FATAL

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—W. P. Sharkey, 43, died at the Kaspere Cohn hospital last night, as the result of injuries sustained an hour before when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by a truck said to have been driven by C. E. Maple.

JAPAN COAST CITY SHAKEN BY QUAKE

earthquake shook the city early today, throwing the population into a panic. There was little damage, however, and apparently no casualties.

RUMBLINGS WARN OF APPROACHING QUAKE.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Jan. 16.—Two strong earthquake shocks rocked the town of Cachala today. Terrifying subsidence rumblings, which preceded the quake, prevented loss of life.

The people, warned by the impending disaster, fled into the open. Property damage was extensive. So far no loss of life has been reported.

Nab Woman After Thrilling Chase

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—After a regular "movie thriller" chase through apartment houses and garages and over fences, Mrs. Bessie Clark was lodged in the county jail today on a charge of passing $1790 worth of bad checks, according to the police.

Mrs. Clark has been a regular female hoodlum to the police as she was arrested once before but disappeared while seeking bond. She escaped again yesterday while on the way to the jail, and was captured only after a lengthy chase.

Bullet Halts Dope Salesman Suspect

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—Leslie Allen, 26, who was shot in the left thigh last night as he fled from officers who alleged they saw him selling morphine, is in jail today charged with violation of the Harrison act.

In a raid on his home police say they secured a quantity of morphine and several hypodermic needles.

His mother, Mrs. Ethel Allen and his brother Howard, are charged with violation of the state anti-poison act.

MACCABEES PLAN MOTOR CARAVAN

DETROIT, Jan. 16.—The organization of a national automobile caravan trip to Washington in which thousands of members will drive to that city from every section of the country is the plan adopted by the Maccabees, well known fraternal benefit society, as its Americanization program for 1924. The cars will follow regular caravan routes, caravan jubilee will be celebrated in each city as the local delegation joins the procession and a caravan jubilee will be held in Washington in connection with the order's regular quadrennial convention.

"We selected Washington as our convention city and adopted the caravan plan to make it possible for every member of the Maccabees to visit our country's capital," states A. W. Frye, supreme commander, who originated the plan. "Allegiance to their country is part of our obligation taken by our members. A visit to Washington is an inspiration and education to every patriotic citizen and in the caravan campaign we are enabling our members to take this trip without cost and under the most favorable circumstances."

"We believe in travel as a means of education and Americanization. Jumping from one far-off city to another over night in a sleeping car does neither, but a motor trip such as this will give the Westerner a chance to get acquainted with each man how the other fellow lives and make broader, better citizens of them both. Fraternal societies are shown many privileges in American laws and customs. The Maccabees helps to balance the account by making its members better Americans and better men."

The Maccabees will take on this trip, with all expenses paid, every member who demonstrates during the next fifteen months his loyalty to his country and the Maccabees by enrolling a small number of new members in the society and thus extending its field for social and patriotic services.

News Briefs

Election of Junior College student body officers will take place tomorrow at 9:45 a. m. in junior college assembly in the high school auditorium. Overton Luhr, retiring president, will preside. The junior college drama class, under the direction of Ernest Crozier Phillips, will put on a one-act play.

Miss Hazel Kinsel and Miss Persana Deimling of the Junior College, Y. W. C. A. cabinet, in company with Miss Isabel Anderson, directing secretary, will attend a conference of Y. W. C. A. officials in Los Angeles this afternoon to plan for the mid-winter conference of all student associations in Southern California, which conference will be held in Santa Ana in April.

Girls who will enter the high school here in February are to be guests of the Girls' League of the high school at a reception held in the Y. W. C. A. hut, January 29 at 3 p. m. Miss Virginia Thatcher, president of the Girls' league, will supervise the plans for the party with the following committees in assistance: Program, Virginia Thatcher; Mary McFadden, Constance Crookshank, Margaret Conant and Helen Battey; refreshment, Alice Miller and Dorothy Carothers.

Judge E. T. Langley today announced that the annual mid-winter picnic of the South Dakota society would be held in Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles, Saturday, January 19. The usual rules governing hot coffee and state badges will be observed and an interesting program is promised for the after-dinner hours.

Plans were today being perfected for what was expected would prove an unusually interesting meeting of the American Legion auxiliary to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the armory. Mrs. H. H. Reeves, recently installed as president, will conduct her first business meeting since her return to office. Mrs. Reeves was the first president of the auxiliary when it was established a few years ago.

Enrollment for next semester at the high school here took place during the third period this morning. To facilitate registration all students were asked to sign for the courses they will take next semester, making no period changes except with permission of the office. With the incoming 110 new sophomores from the junior high school, the registrar, Mrs. Lulu B. Finley, expects more than 1000 students in high school next semester.

Many parents of students who will enter high school next semester from Santa Ana, two junior high school graduating classes are expected to attend the high school Parent-Teachers meeting to be held tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. hut. The meeting will be held for the purpose of acquainting parents of incoming students with the routine, rules and curriculum of the high school.

Vaudeville, dancing and social amusements are scheduled as entertainment when former residents of Michigan now living in the Southland hold a party, next Friday night, in Los Angeles, information received here revealed today. The party will be held at Music Arts hall, 233 South Broadway, will be for Michiganders and their friends.

Frank F. Ey, son of Frank Ey, former mayor of Santa Ana, today was preparing to assume his duties as a deputy district attorney of Los Angeles, following his appointment by District Attorney A. C. Kane. Ey has practiced in the federal and state courts and in the customs department. He will handle bail bonds and assist in the complaint bureau.

Lincoln's Kin Is Held For Murder

AURORA, Ill., Jan. 16.—Warren J. Lincoln, Aurora's eccentric attorney-gardner, who confessed killing his wife and burning her body with that of Byron Shoup, her brother, was held to the Kane county grand jury today on two charges of murder.

Lincoln signed a written statement of his earlier confession, admitting that he killed his wife with a stone, poker, insisting that she had first shot Shoup to death and further admitting that he burned the bodies of both in his greenhouse furnace.

"Blind as a bat" is a common expression. But a bat has such unusually keen powers of vision that it may almost be said to see with its skin. Even when it is placed in total darkness it can find its way without faltering or blundering; and on the blackest night it can espy the most minute insects—insects invisible to the naked eye of man—with amazing swiftness.

PRETTY GIRLS OF 'REVUE' IN SNAPPY
ATTIRE WIN S. A.

Pretty girls and snappy costumes combined with an orchestra, that played real jazz, featured the first night of "The Powder Puff Revue" opening at the Temple theater last night for a two-night run. The revue is presented here under the auspices of the Orange County volume No. 527, La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux.

While some of the numbers were really clever, the feminine pulchritude displayed in the chorus and the popularity of some of the song numbers were responsible for the applause that greeted the cast.

Jackie Shannon, eccentric dancer and comedienne, was the bright spot on the bill. Her "Dances Eccentrique" were well received and her stage "business" marked her as a real fun-maker. She laughed through her numbers and carried the audience with her by the infectious qualities of her smile.

Local Notables Burlesqued.
Hazel DeVere and Irene Howard, in their Nautch dance, offered a selection of grace and rhythm that won fair applause from an audience that appeared cold at the beginning of the number. They put their dance "over" by the sheer grace of their movements.

Mel Melville, in blackface, extracted laughs with his stories, some of which were not of a late vintage.

Jack Fisher, the only local number of the cast, won considerable applause for his dry humor and burlesque on several local notables. Fisher has a dry wit that never fails to get a laugh where laughs were intended.

When the Brown sisters appeared for their second dance they won their way into the hearts of the audience and were forced to "come back." Their second appearance on the bill was greeted with more enthusiasm than the first.

Colored Folk Please.
The Billbre quartette, judging from the applause, was the hit of the evening. These colored entertainers, with the melodious voices found only in colored singers and with their several well-selected songs, drew vociferous applause. They were recalled for three encores and the applause continued even after they had made their last bow.

Irene Jones featured several popular songs. Her costumes were one of the features of the evening. Helen Levette, a dainty little miss, danced her way to the applause of the audience with a dainty number that was programmed "Danse Pizzacati."

"The Powder Puff Revue" offered an evening's entertainment that was different. A mixture of comedy, feminine pulchritude, snappy costumes and graceful dancing accompanied by Sadie Halperin's orchestra—that is the revue.

Teachers Prevent Panic During Fire

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 16.—Flames and smoke clouds drove several hundred children from the Freemont school here today when overflowing oil from the furnace blazed up into the ventilating and heating system.

The principal and teachers were praised by fire department officials for averting a panic, all those in the building being marched safely outside. The damage was very slight.

SEPARATION ON
IS RECALLED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Lieutenant-Colonel Louis S. Chappelear and his wife are coming home to California. A brief, routine, dray-as-dust special order of the war department received at ninth corps area headquarters conveyed this information and recalled the story of the flight waged by the Chappelears in February, 1922, to carry out their romance and honeymoon despite similar mandatory orders from Washington.

When early in January, 1922, Colonel Chappelear, then assistant adjutant of the Ninth corps area, was notified that he must sail for Manila on the seventh of the next month, he was visibly disturbed. Mrs. May Cosby, a wealthy Los Angeles widow, was the reason for the colonel's agitation. He had been wooing Mrs. Cosby for some time, but the romance was developing along leisurely lines and promised to be the conventional extended affair. Not wishing to sail for his distant station in a condition of single blessedness, which he described in quite different terms, Colonel Chappelear began a whirlwind courtship which led to the altar on January 20.

Colonel Booked as Bachelor.
In the meantime Colonel Chappelear had been booked to sail on the transport Thomas as a bachelor and had been assigned to quarters befitting his single state. The Thomas was known as the honeymoon train, so numerous were the newlyweds taking passage on her every voyage to the Orient, and Colonel Chappelear found after the wedding that there were no more accommodations on the ship for officers' wives.

As the couple had planned on making the voyage their honeymoon it was agreed by all their friends that something must be done about it.

Friends Anticipate Story.
Appeal was made to the war department and almost up to the moment of the sailing of the Thomas the couple believed that the army heads would relent and permit them to sail together. Military requirements, however, vetoed the tender sentiments involved, and at last Colonel Chappelear was curiously told that he must sail on that voyage of the Thomas and sail alone. His wife was left weeping at the pier and followed him to Manila a few weeks later.

Now that the Chappelears are about to return on account of the expiration of the Colonel's term of foreign service, their friends are waiting to learn whether they have had any further difficulties with red tape during their stay in the tropics.

Colonel Chappelear will be on duty at the headquarters of the Ninth corps area in the adjutant-general's department, where he was on duty prior to his departure for the Philippines.

BOOSTING GAS BONDS
DETROIT, Jan. 16.—The gas arbitration board has learned that the American Light and Traction company of New York bought 99,790 shares of the Detroit City Gas company for $5,488,661, and then by issuance of more stock and a stock dividend made the investment appear on their books as $10,000,261. A gas rate increase is sought by the Detroit subsidiary.

PROSPERITY OF
IS REVEALED

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Home Mutual Building and Loan association, O. M. Robbins, secretary, reported that 1923 had been the most prosperous in the history of the association. The net growth was over $200,000, and the actual cash handled by the association was $1,050,000.

The number of certificates in force December 31, 1923, was 2484. Of these there were 1172 installment certificates owned by males, 493 by females, and 24 by lodges. Investment note certificates were owned by 249 males, 428 females and 18 lodges.

"The amount of loans made was $640,500," Robbins said. Loans paid, including the monthly payments on loans, totaled $413,839.99. The amount of six per cent investment notes issued was $412,670 and six per cent investment notes paid and cancelled totaled $280,435. Six per cent investment notes now in force amount to $754,243."

The assets of the association Dec. 31, were $1,375,211.63. A special stockholders meeting will be held Feb. 19 to increase the capital stock from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000.

An extra cash dividend was made on the installment stock of 1 per cent in January, and $2,000 was added to the reserve fund which with the undivided profits now totals $48,074.51. The association owns no real estate except the home office.

The election of directors resulted in the selection of P. G. Beissel, G. M. Kryhl, Harry L. Hanson, O. M. Robbins, E. B. Sprague, N. A. Beals, and W. E. Winslow. Officers elected for the year by the directors follow: P. G. Beissel, president; E. B. Sprague, vice president; O. M. Robbins, secretary; Doris M. Robbins, assistant secretary; Harry L. Hanson, treasurer; First National Bank of Santa Ana, depository.

Salesman Travels
Same Ohio Route
Over Fifty Years

NEW LEXINGTON, Ohio, Jan. 16.—He is 76 and gray of hair, but the spring of youth is in his steps as he continues to travel his route—the same he has traversed for fifty-three years.

Lewis Hyman, veteran salesman, is laying claims to having covered the same territory for a longer time than any other living salesman. His home is in Columbus, but for fifty-three years he has been "calling on the trade" between Mount Vernon and New Lexington, Ohio.

During the time he has sold more than $15,000,000 worth of flour and feed, and expects to sell another million or so before retiring.

Hyman does not regard his feat as anything unusual. Although he failed only four times during the fifty-three years in carrying through his weekly schedule, he thinks anyone could do as well if they had the habit.

"My grandfather lived to see his 102d birthday," he said, "and my father was 94 when he died. I see no reason why I should not keep at my work for at least another five years."

RAIL OFFICIAL QUITS
DETROIT, Jan. 16.—Superintendent J. J. Corcoran of the Detroit-Canadian division of the Pere Marquette railroad has resigned to become manager of a gravel company at Germantown, Ohio. D. J. Diver Plans Hunt
For Buried Hoard
Of Pirate Morgan

LONG BEACH, Jan. 16.—Tradition says that the treasure of Sir Henry Morgan, buccaneer of the Spanish Main, is hidden in a sunken cave off the coast of Old Providence Island, in the West Indies.

Because his interest has been aroused in the old tradition by helping to get a vessel off the reef, Bernard Joachim Keegan, deep sea diver and second mate of the United States wrecking tug Favorite, will soon try to find the buried treasure.

The mouth of the cave in which the gold is supposed to have been buried was above water in Morgan's time, but it is now about 75 feet below the surface. After he has reached the mouth of the cave, Keegan expects to have to swim about 150 feet into the cave proper and then come up inside the main chambers, which are above water. It is in those chambers that he expects to find the gold.

A number of serious dangers will have to be faced in the water, because the sea around Old Providence is alive with sharks, swordfish, sawfish, poisonous sea snakes and giant devilfish. Keegan says that his Irish luck will be with him.

ANNUAL SCOUT
IS PRAISED

A program of unusual merit has been arranged for the annual meeting of the Orange County council, Boy Scouts of America, to be held tomorrow night in the Masonic Temple, Fullerton, beginning at 6:30 o'clock, according to an announcement made here today by Roland E. Dye, scout executive of this county.

"This gathering is open to the friends of scouting in this county and those interested in the movement," Dye said.

Reb B. Goodell, collector of internal revenue, has been selected as speaker of the evening. He will deliver an address of particular interest to those interested in scouting as a development of better Americans.

"In addition to Judge Goodell, who was formerly judge of the superior court of San Bernardino county, John R. Williams, immediate past district governor of Rotary, will deliver a short address and Robert L. Brown, baritone, will sing several numbers."

"The program will be under the direction of the Rev. Walter Thornton of Fullerton, who will act as toastmaster. Several other numbers of interest will conclude the program."

TELLS INTEREST
CHAMBER MEET
HAS TO WEST

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—"We are looking forward to greeting a group of business men thoroughly representative of the west at the divisional conference of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, to be held in San Francisco January 29 and 30."

So wrote Julius H. Barnes, president, in a letter addressed to the business interests of the West. Barnes will be in attendance at the first regional conference to be held here which will bring together business delegates of eleven states.

"Without question the subjects to be discussed are of more than passing interest," continued President Barnes. "They are in fact of intense importance to the commercial and industrial interests of the western division and all business men should welcome this opportunity to express collectively their opinion."

"The administration of the national government will appreciate an expression given on this occasion as federal legislation on any of these subjects will affect directly the interests of the business men of the West."

Barnes, himself, stands out as one of America's greatest industrial leaders. During the war he served as president of the United States Food Administration Grain corporation. For his work in conserving the grain supplies in America that not only the American armies, but also those of her allies might be fed, he was decorated by both France and Belgium.

Among the important topics of the conference referred to by Barnes is that of foreign trade, a subject in which the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has been deeply interested since its inception. It has vigorously supported the movement to build up the department of foreign and domestic trade and to extend the number of commercial attaches abroad. The chamber has also done much in the field of arbitration between business men of the United States and foreign countries. It took the initiative in bringing about the organization of the International Chamber of Commerce with headquarters in Paris and which now has affiliated with it some thirty or more nations including the United States.

ATTENTION, MR. NEW!
PLYMOUTH, Eng. Jan. 16.—A letter, tossed about in the Atlantic for three weeks, has been received by a man here. His son, an engineer on a steamer bound for Vancouver, put the epistle in a sealed tin with a tiny flag attached, and cast it overboard. A fisherman found the can along one of the shores of the Azores islands and forwarded the letter by post.

'ROBIN HOOD' MADE PERFECT IN SPITE OF DETAIL, VIEW

"The multiplicity of detail that enters into the production of an opera such as 'Robin Hood,' which the Orange County Chorus union will present at the Yost theater here the nights of January 22 and 23, is hardly apparent at a performance, which the audience sees only as a finished whole," declared Ellis Rhodes, director of the popular organization of sing-

"the staging of a play is a simple matter. In the case of a comedy or drama, virtually all that is required is a satisfactory delivery of the lines, with,
of course, as much acting as the cast may be capable of.

"In an opera like 'Robin Hood,' however, the task becomes indefinitely more difficult. There, we have spoken lines also, but in addition we have solo and chorus numbers and dances, all of which must be co-ordinated with the orchestra. The matter of stage management is likewise much more arduous in an opera, due to the vastly greater number of persons who must be gotten on and off the stage at the proper time.

"In addition to all this, as is the case also with a comedy or drama, a multitude of other things have to be arranged. Advertising and publicity must be attended to. Tickets must be printed. Costumes must be made or rented. Scenery must be procured. Programs must be printed. Every detail must be worked out, lest there be a hitch in the machinery and a single oversight mar the entire enterprise.

"So far as concerns the present opera, due to the tireless cooperation of the scores of loyal men and women of the chorus union, there will be no hitches.
It will be a perfect production."
Tickets are on sale at the Santa Ana Book Store, 105 East
Fourth street.

GIVES MINISTER JAIL TERM IN SPEED CASE

Separated from his bride, but not from his Bible, the Rev. A. J.
Towe, pastor of the Church of Our Savior at Patterson, Calif., was scheduled to commence serving a five-day jail term here this afternoon for speeding.

The Rev. Mr. Towe was sentenced by Justice J. B. Cox today after he was found guilty of driving at a rate of forty five miles per hour while under the exhilarating and accelerating influence of a "honeymoon" trip through Southern California.

The minister's bride was not with him when he appeared in court today, but he carried two Bibles under his arm for companionship during the period of his incarceration. The court allowed him to drive to Los Angeles to place his car in a garage there until he emerges from jail. He promised to return to the jail this afternoon and was allowed to go without bail.

Refusing to admit that he was speeding and declaring that he didn't know how fast he was going, a statement which the court appeared to understand, the Rev.
Mr. Towe was found guilty on the testimony of Motorcycle Officers
Frank Stewart and Vernon Myers, who arrested him on the Irvine boulevard.

R. Christenson, organist at the Mission theater, Riverside, also sought literary consolation during the five day sentence given him for speeding at a fifty three mile clip. He carried a copy of Shakepeare.

"Here," suggested the court.
"You'd better leave that book with me, and take this copy of the state motor vehicle law instead."

G. E. Collum of Long Beach and
W. Lochmont of Venice, also were sentenced to five days in jail as speeders. Lochmont was charged with driving fifty miles per hour, Collum being credited with fifty-three.

S. A. READY TO TAKE PART IN THRIFT PLAN

Hundreds of Santa Ana and Orange county merchants, bankers, school officials and other residents today were prepared to cooperate to the fullest extent to make Thrift week, opening in this section, as in other parts of the United States, tomorrow—
Benjamin Franklin's birthday.

The thrift movement here was given added impetus by the arrival of J. A. Goodell of New York, executive secretary of the National Thrift committee, of the Y. M. C. A., who will head the campaign in Santa Ana late this month to complete the building fund for the local 'Y.'

"It is well for every person in the United States to make a resultion at this time of year to do all in his power to help the thrift movement," Goodell declared. "Thrift week has received the warm endorsement of President Coolidge, the post office department and virtually every bank and newspaper of importance in the nation."

In this regard, Goodell called attention to a recent statement by E. C. DeLafeld, president of the Bank of America of New York city and member of the National Thrift committee.

DeLafeld said:
"As a citizen in my community's affairs and my country's development I have taken personal interest in this thrift movement which has grown constantly from year to year as I have been able to see the practical and increasing results of its work. I believe it is having a direct bearing on our national prosperity and that it can with adequate support and co-operation become a tremendous factor in America's future welfare. As a banker, I can see how countless thousands have come into a greater appreciation of such financial institutions to the benefit of both themselves and the banks. I am enthusiastic about the possibilities of National Thrift week in 1924."

Arrest Hotel Man In Shooting Case

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 16.
—Ray S. Tullidge, local hotel proprietor, was found guilty of having committed unlawful homicide by the coroner's jury yesterday. Tull-idge admits holding the gun, a shot from which killed Charles B. Croner, prominent California and Utah

Noted Jap Leader To Give Up Title

TOKIO, Jan. 16.—Former Premier Takahashi, one of the leading figures in Japanese national affairs, today declared he will renounce his title of viscount.
He said he planned this renunciation because of the outcry of the members of the House of Representatives against the allegedly too rapid growth of the peerage.

Takahashi said he would immediately become a commoner, with no title whatsoever.

DOG MOTHERS LIONESS.

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 16.—A baby lioness, born in a cage here recently, has been adopted by a mother colle dog. The cub had two little brothers, but their mother, Simba, perhaps believing that a life of captivity was not worth while for them, rolled on them and killed them. But the lioness cub was snatched away from this danger by M. A. Snow, African game hunter and curator of the Oakland museum of natural history. He put her in a box padded with a quilt, removed her to the museum workshop and fetched her a bottle of milk, which she took to with avidity. He then brought in the colle, which promptly licked the cub sympathetically and curled up beside her with a protective air.

Mothers! Rub Away Children's Colds

Let them breathe in

Little Stomachs Rebel Against Dosing

Anxious mothers are too apt to dose their children continually.

Often this upsets the delicate little stomach. An upset stomach means a poor appetite. So the child doesn't eat enough to keep up its strength.

This in turn lowers the bodily resistance, thus inviting fresh colds and other diseases.

THE MOTHER'S PROBLEM—
Wise mothers know that daily outdoor exercise in childhood lays the foundation for strong bodies in later life.

Summer.

But with outdoor exposure some colds are bound to come.

And we know now that colds are not just "simple" colds.

They must not be neglected. Much of the catarrh, deafness and ill health of adults is now laid by physicians to the neglected colds of childhood.

On the other hand, constant internal dosing must not be thought of.
This is the mother's problem these cold Winter days.

EXTERNALLY applied, Vicks can be used as freely and as often as desired, even on the youngest child.

THE PROBLEM SOLVED—Vicks
VapoRub—the external, vaporizing treatment—has solved this problem for literally millions of mothers.

They let the kiddies romp outdoors but at the first sign of "sniffles" they apply Vicks over the throat and chest at night.

It is externally applied and so can be used frequently without upsetting the digestion.

The ingredients, released by the body heat, are inhaled with each breath, stimulating the air passages to throw off the cold germs. At the same time, Vicks increases the circulation of the blood throughout the chest region, thus helping to prevent any congestion developing.

This use of Vicks will prevent many colds and save much precious strength and vitality.

HOW VICKS SHOULD BE USED

For Head Colds, Arthma, Catarrh, Hay Fever—
Vicks should be melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled, or a little can be applied up the nostrils and snuffed up the head.

For Spasmodic Croup, Children's Colds—Rub
Vicks over the throat and chest until the difficult breathing is relieved, then spread on thickly and cover with a hot flannel cloth. One application at bedtime usually prevents a night attack of croup.

For Deep Chest Colds, Sore Throat, Tonsillitis, Bronchitis, Coughs—Rub Vicks briskly over the throat and chest. In severe cases first rub the skin to open the pores (see directions). Then spread on thickly and cover with one or two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths. If the cough is annoying, a small piece the size of a pea can be swallowed every few hours.

Betrothals Weddings ReceptionPleasant Sentiment Is Manifested at Inn Luncheon

Resolving itself into a truly mother and daughter party was a pleasant luncheon given yesterday at St. Ann's Inn by Mrs. S. S. East, formerly of Santa Ana and now of Salem, Oregon, and her daughter, Mrs. Hugh Kyle of Long Beach.

The affair was a reunion of old-time close friends and the attractive luncheon table, centered with flowers, was arranged for Mrs. East and Mrs. Kyle, the hostesses, Mrs. T. J. Haughton, her daughter, Miss Carolyn Haughton, and Mrs. W. L. Duggan and her daughter, Mrs. R. G. Hewitt.

The occasion was also in the nature of a farewell as Mr. and Mrs. East will leave soon on an eastern trip via the Panama canal. They will stop at Havana, Cuba, and also in Florida, going north to New York City by boat. After a visit in the eastern cities they will make the transcontinental trip by rail, back to their Salem home. Mr. East was a former business man in this city.

S. A. Women's Club

Hinting a springtime soon to arrive, were the bowls of golden daffodils and white narcissus which yesterday adorned the home of Mrs. J. H. Northrup on North Broadway when she greeted the members of the Santa Ana Women's club.

Following the usual routine of opening, a discussion was held regarding the approaching birthday dinner of the club which will be held in February. All members who plan to attend are asked to make their reservations at the earliest possible date with Mrs. Henry Diers or Mrs. Frank Ey.

Reciprocity day at Costa Mesa was also discussed and in accepting the invitation of the Costa Mesa Friday Afternoon club (the hostess club) to send the president and two delegates, Mrs. C. M. Williams and Mrs. C. T. Wells were named as delegates to accompany the president, Mrs. F. H. Finney or her representative.

The program for the afternoon was presented by Mrs. Oberlin Rodriguez and Mrs. Leonore Panuncio, supervisor of Americanization work in the city schools.

Mrs. Rodriguez gave her hearers a graphic account of the settlement and growth of Mexico from the days of Cortez to the present time of internal strife following a short period of peace and prosperity. She dwelt on the home life of the people in a most interesting manner.

Mrs. Panuncio spoke of her Americanization work and related events connected with the school at Artesia street where there are day classes for women and junior high school classes for men on certain evenings each week.

The club expressed its appreciation of the afternoon by a rising vote of thanks to the speakers. At the close of the meeting the hostesses for the afternoon, Mrs. Henry Diers, Mrs. Frank Ey, Mrs. A. A. Schlusman, Mrs. Walter Myers and Mrs. Eckley served cake, doughnuts and hot coffee.

The dining table was centered with a bowl of pink roses.

The next meeting will be January 29 at the home of Mrs. B. Uttley, 423 East Pine street.

Household Economics

FOURTH SECTION.
In carrying out their plans to add to the clubhouse building fund, members of Ebells fourth section Household Economics will stage the first of two cooked food sales, Saturday, January 19, at Blauer's grocery, beginning at 9:30 a. m.

All varieties of cake, cookies and pastry will be available to the Saturday shopper and salads, baked beans, cold meats and other dainties for the Sunday dinner may be obtained.

SIXTH SECTION.
An all-day meeting of Ebells sixth section Household Economics to be held at the home of Mrs. S. M. Davis, 120 West, Eighteenth street, Friday of this week, day nursery sewing will be done by the members who are expected to meet by 10:30 a. m.

Mrs. Davis, Mrs. G. E. Bruns and Mrs. T. L. Warren will be hostesses while the program will be in charge of Mrs. Charles Carothers, Mrs. F. W. Weissman and Miss Lida Crookshank. Everyone is to be prepared to answer roll call with a New Year's resolution while during the afternoon program, each will be asked to relate some experience as a housewife, either practical or otherwise.

Reciprocity Day at Costa Mesa Club

Friday afternoon, January 18, all clubs of the county federation are asked to join the Friday Afternoon club of Costa Mesa in a reciprocity day program at the clubhouse, beginning at 1:30 o'clock.

Mesa clubwomen are asked particularly to note the change in hour as it was deemed advisable to open the meeting an hour earlier than usual on account of the press of business and program matters. Mrs. E. L. Quinn, president of the hostess club, today stated that an interesting program of "pianologues, music and a dramatic skit would be presented, varied by community singing.

Each club president will be given an opportunity to bring a message from her club.

Following the business session, a social hour was enjoyed and appetizing refreshments were served.

Wee Lad Celebrates First Birthday With Party

Such a happy day was enjoyed yesterday by a group of babies and their young mothers who gathered at the William W. Harding home, 526 South Van Ness street, to celebrate the birthday of Master Robert Warren Harding, little one-year-old son of the home.

Mrs. Harding used babyhood's own colors of pink and white in her arrangements with pink and white roses adorning the rooms where the little people romped and played while the mothers interested themselves in arranging other words from the word "birthday."

Mrs. Maslin was the most successful and was awarded a pretty prize.

The babies were then gathered in a group while Mrs. Harding read aloud to them, choosing verses that children instinctively love. At the refreshment hour, the pretty pink birthday cake with its one glowing candle, was served with fruit jello and whipped cream.

Robert Warren received many pretty gifts from his small guests who included Baby June Maslin and her mother, Mrs. Joseph W. Maslin; Warren Raymond and his mother, Mrs. V. L. Raymond; Kenneth Price and his mother, Mrs. J. L. Price; little Miss Jean Criddle and her mother, Mrs. J. H. Criddle; and Donald Harding of Bolsa and his mother, Mrs. George Harding. The small honoree's grandmother, Mrs. Grace Wilde and his mother, Mrs. Harding, completed the happy group.

Daughters of Veterans

Turning from the events of their joint installation with the Sons of Veterans, members of the Sarah A. Rounds Tent No. 10, Daughters of Veterans were today planning a flag presentation to the boys of their adopted scout troop, No. 10 tonight at the scout cabin opposite Birch park.

The presentation will be at 7 o'clock and all Daughters are urged to attend.

The joint installation of the two patriotic orders was held Monday night at G. A. R. hall following a pot-luck dinner at 6:30 o'clock, attended by a large number of Sons and Daughters and their families.

Fullerton camps of Sons and Daughters were honored guests at the dinner and assisted at the installation ceremonies. The Daughters were the first installed, Mrs. Eva Bell, past department president acted as installing officer, the Fullerton staff assisting.

At the termination of the ceremony the installing officer was presented with a beautiful hand-painted plate. The new president, Mrs. La Bounty made the presentation. In recognition of her services Mrs. Nellie Parker was presented with the customary past president's gold pin.

New officers installed were: Mrs. Floss La Bounty, president; Mrs. Harriet Leipsic, senior vice-president; Miss Edith Ward, junior vice-president; Mrs. Sarah Brown, chaplain; Mesdames Nellie Parker, Ethel Milner and Leona Nelvin, council members; Mrs. Leona Talbot, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Olive Baird, secretary; Mrs. Estella Anderson, press correspondent; Mrs. Maude Sutton, guide; Mrs. Clara Corry, guard; Mrs. Maude Wallace, assistant guard; Mrs. Sadie Skiles, musician, Mesdames Gladys Van Hise, Maxie Wilson, Erisa Piper and Jessie Kiser, color bearers.

The Fullerton camp of Sons of Veterans, the latest camp instituted in this division, was represented by their commander, Albert Stulke and his staff.

The new staff of officers for the Santa Ana Sons for the coming year will be: E. J. Parker, commander; H. M. Brothers Jr., senior vice-commander; A. A. Holt, junior vice-commander; W. L. Somerby, George Wilber and Clinton Hubert, camp council; S. L. Carpenter, secretary; L. A. Ludwig, treasurer; O. D. Brothers, chaplain; E. A. Bell, patriotic instructor; Joe Moore, guide; Hugh Wylie, color bearer; Albert Gardner, inner guard; W. J. Davis, outer guard.

Yesterday afternoon, the Daughters, with Mrs. La Bounty and staff filling their official positions, met in the G. A. R. hall here where semi-annual reports were read showing a most prosperous and successful year under the leadership of Mrs. Nellie Parker.

An invitation from the Old Soldier's Home at Sawtelle for the McKinley Memorial was accepted.

Young Ladies Sodality

The Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Joseph's church held its regular business meeting and election of officers at the Liebermann home, 612 French street, last evening. There was a good attendance and the election resulted as follows: President, Miss Anna Young; vice president, Miss Louise Shugart; secretary, Miss Laura Banks; and treasurer, Miss Helen Klatt.

Following the business session, a social hour was enjoyed and appetizing refreshments were served.

ONE FRIEND TELLS ANOTHER
The fame of a successful remedy is often spread far and wide by women telling one another of its merits, as is evidenced by a letter written by Mrs. Delbert Bush of Massena, N. Y. She writes: "I was in such a bad condition I could hardly walk. A friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with excellent results advised me to try it. I cannot praise it enough. There have been women everywhere who have been benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and glad to tell their friends and neighbors about it."

Gay House-Warming Is Planned As Surprise In Orange Home

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Van Aken who recently took possession of their beautiful new home in Orange, were placed in the position of guests in that home recently when a little group of warm friends from this city motored over and staged a house-warming.

Included in the affair was a most enjoyable supper to which each guest contributed a surprise dish, thus offering a varied and appetizing menu. In the evening, rugs were rolled back and dancing enjoyed in the spacious living-room while cards and other games added to the entertainment.

The presence of Mrs. Van Aken's mother and brother, Mrs. Perkins and Richard Perkins, recent arrivals from Michigan, made the evening still more enjoyable. Other guests included Messrs. and Mesdames James T. Carter, Walter Wright, Harry L. Wilcox, Dean, Glenn Lyman, Carl Mock, Henry Walters, Jack Willey, Miss Lucille Van Aken and Mrs. I. Meacham.

Dinner Guests Will Sail For Hawaii

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hanley were hosts at an informal dinner last night at their Orange avenue home, when Captain and Mrs. Stacy Knopf were honored guests.

A low bowl of roses centered the attractively appointed table. Captain and Mrs. Knopf are house-guests of the Herbert Knopfs of Ball road, Anaheim. They will sail early in February for Hawaii where they will be stationed for the next three years.

There are about 2,000,000 lepers in the world, according to latest medical estimates. Half of them are in China, statistics show.

Friendly Gathering Leads to Forming Of Sewing Club

Mrs. H. A. Smith of 437 South Broadway entertained very informally at a "Kensington" recently when the time was spent pleasantly with needlework and social chat.

Indeed so enjoyable was the affair and so congenial the group called together that it was decided to form a club to continue the meetings from month to month at the homes of different members. No name has yet been chosen for the little club.

Just before the home-going of the guests, Mrs. Smith, assisted by her daughters, served appetizing refreshments of ice cream, angel food cake and salted nuts.

The guest list included Mesdames C. H. Chapman, Archie Gortz, Edward Pickering, Robert White, J. A. Gardiner, C. G. Huston, G. W. Etchison, C. W. Leamer, J. H. Cockron, Florence Hicks and Effie Hayes.

Royal Neighbors

A large crowd attended the joint installation of Royal Neighbors and Modern Woodmen held at M. W. A. hall last night. The hall was brilliantly decorated with purple and white, Royal Neighbors colors. A canopy of crepe paper in the two colors cover the ceiling and flowers were china lilies and purple iris.

Following the installation, a short program was enjoyed and the evening ended with a social hour during which fruitade and wafers were served.

Royal Neighbors officers installed were orate, Flora Dolbe; past orate, Anna Johnson; vice-orate, Marie Knight; chancellor, Margaret Nunn; recorder, Etta Sweet; receiver, Laura Dunlap; inner sentinel, Trena Johnson; outer sentinel, Stella Miller; marshal, Bess Simmons; assistant marshal, Cora Breeding; manager, Valerie Gredis; physician, Dr. R. P. Yeagle; musician, Daisy Scott.

Happy Social Affair Brings Many Guests From Out-of-Town

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Schlusman at 1201 West Fifth street, was the scene of a delightful event recently when about forty of their friends from Santa Ana and adjoining cities met for a social evening.

The house was beautifully decorated with bowls of marigolds and ferns. Marigolds also centered the table where Mrs. Schlusman served a delicious midnight supper of potato salad, wafers, olives, pickles, coffee, doughnuts, apple pie and cheese.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Jackman and L. Shaffer, Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Chaudet, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McRee, Mr. and Mrs. R. Elsey, Miss Pearl Vogel and Mrs. Page, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McNeely and Louis McNeely, Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. D. Callahan, Riverside; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stroup, Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Chapman, Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Schlusman, San Diego; Mrs. William Jeffries, San Fernando; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. McIntire, Irvine; Mrs. Hayes and daughter, Mr. Walworth and Miss Walworth, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Towner and Mrs. Kinsella, Santa Ana.

Knights of Columbus

Twenty candidates were given the first degree at a meeting last night of Santa Ana Council, No. 1842, Knights of Columbus at their hall. A company of 125 Knights was present to witness the excellent initiatory work done by the Anaheim council team and its officers, all of whom were present, together with a large delegation of members from the Mother Colony. Grand Knight Oxnard of Whittier council was also a guest.

The address of the evening was delivered by the Rev. Father Burelbach of Orange, others making remarks being Grand Knight Oxnard of Whittier and N. C. Staley of Anaheim.

Following the ceremonies of the evening, supper was served the Knights by a capable committee.

CONVENTION OF BIBLE CLASSES IS TOMORROW

Officials of the Santa Ana Men's Bible class, joining with W. B. Martin of this city, federation president, today were working out final details of the program planned for the entertainment of 1500 delegates expected here tomorrow when the fifth quarterly convention of the Federated Men's Bible classes is held.

The afternoon session will be held at the First Christian church beginning at 3 o'clock. This will be featured by the nomination of officers for the federation and by several ten-minute talks on "Class Achievement."

The visitors will be banqueted at five Santa Ana churches at 6 o'clock and then go to the Santa Ana high school auditorium where the evening meeting will take place.

Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson, outstanding hero of the Spanish-American War, one of the leaders in the successful fight for American prohibition and now nationally known as a foe of narcotics, will be the principal speaker of this session. Captain Hobson is scheduled to begin his address at 8:30 o'clock.

L. O. Culp of Fullerton is on the evening program for an address on "How to Get the Men." The male quartette contest, in which at least six classes will enter musicians, is expected to result in considerable rivalry among the delegates.

All men of Santa Ana are welcome to attend the evening gathering, President Martin said.

LAYS PROGRESS TO SCHOOLS OF U. S.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 16.—Declaring that "the stability of American government can be attributed directly to the education afforded by the American schools," Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, has issued his annual message to California school teachers and superintendents in the form of an appeal for greater and more conscientious service during 1924.

Wood, in part, said: "The school people of California should enter upon the new year happy in the consciousness of the high worth of service already rendered and anxious to surpass during 1924 the achievements of the schools during the previous year. "We should begin the work of the new year with renewed confidence in American democracy and in the public schools as the foundation thereof. It is significant that America, which is today one of the most stable countries in the world, has maintained the most democratic school system in the world. The stability of American government can be attributed directly to the education afforded by the American schools.

"At the outset of 1924 we should take thought again that the real wealth of America is in the human beings that compose her population and that the improvement of human beings is the best way to add to the wealth of the nation. Other countries, like Russia and Mexico, have natural resources comparable to ours. Lack of efficient education has caused these countries to lag in the development of their natural resources. We should therefore regard education not in the light of an expense but rather in the light of an investment. We should realize that the public schools have improved the civic ideals of the American people, raised the standard of living, and made possible the leadership of America."

OLD RESIDENT OF BUENA PARK DIES

BUENA PARK, Jan. 16.—Joseph A. Evans passed away yesterday shortly after four o'clock. Mr. Evans, who was eighty-three years old was a great sufferer and has been confined to his bed for nearly two years. He was born in Kentucky, lived in Missouri and moved to California in 1875. He has been a resident of Buena Park for eighteen years.

He is survived by his widow and three sons, Hugh Evans of Los Angeles, and Edward and Oscar Evans of Buena Park.

The funeral will be Thursday at the McAuley undertaking parlors in Fullerton at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Fred Mitchell and wife of Anaheim were callers at the Evans' home Tuesday. Mrs. Mitchell is a niece of Mrs. Evans.

The Ever-Ready Sunday school class, of the Congregational church, met at the home of Florence Warren Monday evening.

After a short business meeting, games were played. Dainty refreshments of chicken patties and wafers were served.

Those who enjoyed the evening were the Misses Lillian Bastady Rosely and Esther Hartman.

Mrs. J. W. Kibler entertained the little folks Monday afternoon with a birthday party for her little daughter Genevieve, on the occasion of the fifth birthday anniversary. The little guests were Kenneth and Donald Jones, Joe Sherman, Billie Rock, Raymond Smith, Homer McKim, Cameron Sophia, Harold Cummins, Florence Riley, Margery Boyle, Lucile Boyle, John McKim, Rosalie Rock, Joan Rock, Geraldine McComber, Katharine Sherdon and Miss Fisk.

Miss Eunice Mann was the hostess to the Golden Rule class on Monday evening. The first part of the evening was spent with a business meeting. The following officers were elected for the next six months. President, Eunice Mann; vice-president, Jean McGill; secretary, Margie Lee; treasurer, Zoe Jackson, and pianist, Margaret Nelson. A social time was enjoyed and dainty refreshments of tamale pie and wafers and hot chocolate and cake were served to the following guests: Margaret and Beulah Nelson, Bertha Robison, Jean McGill, Zoe Jackson, Laura Murch, Mildred Bacon, Margie Lee, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Hazel G. Davis and the hostesses, Mrs. Ed Mann and Miss Eunice Mann.

Many Lose Farms Bought In Boom

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—More than 8 1-2 per cent of the farmers who owned land in 1920, and more than 7 per cent of the tenant farmers in 15 corn and wheat producing states have lost their property with or without legal process, due to purchase during the boom period, unwise investments or other causes.

This estimate, based by the department of agriculture on replies to a special inquiry to 2400 farmers in the upper Mississippi valley, indicated, it was announced, that out of a total of 2,889,000 owner and tenant farmers in the sections considered, more than 108,000 lost their farms or other property through foreclosure or bankruptcy, more than 122,000 lost theirs without legal proceedings, and nearly 373,000 retained their property only because of the leniency of creditors.

The losses, the department found, were relatively more numerous in Montana, North Dakota, Colorado and South Dakota than in the east north central states.

In Hard Lines

"I could not work at all and had to take to my bed with a high fever due to intestinal indigestion, gases in my stomach and pain in my right side. I had spent my last cent for doctors and medicine, which gave me no relief. I was in despair. A lodge brother gave me a bottle of Jany's Wonderful Remedy, and the first dose relieved me. Thanks to this medicine I am now in the best of health." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation, which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—Adv.

Pacific's Master Mariner Is Dead

SEATTLE, Jan. 16.—Captain George A. Crockett, a veteran master mariner of the Pacific ocean, died at his home here. At the time of his death he was the commander of the steamship Admiral Rogers, plying between Seattle and southeastern Alaska. He was master of the state of California which was lost in Gambier bay, southeastern Alaska, in 1913, with several lives. Captain Crockett was born in Maine sixty-three years ago. One of his brothers, Captain E. B. Crockett, is master of the steamship Redondo, running to Alaska.

GEN. O'RYAN DROPPED IN VET PROBE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Major General John P. O'Ryan of New York, counsel for the senatorial committee which investigated the United States veterans' bureau, has been released by the committee and will take no further part in the inquiry or in the preparation of the committee's report to congress on the results of the investigation, it was announced here today.

Discontinuance of General O'Ryan's services as counsel was confirmed by members of the committee. It was simply stated that General O'Ryan's services were no longer needed. When it was pointed out that it was unusual for a committee to release its chief counsel before the completion of its report to congress, members of the committee merely shrugged their shoulders.

It is known that Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, one of his associates, was highly displeased over O'Ryan's preliminary report to the committee and that the general and his associates were "called on the carpet" concerning it at Thursday's session.

Whether this publicity of O'Ryan's report has anything to do with the committee's decision to dispense with his services was not stated.

Members of the committee, Senators Reed, Walden of Massachusetts and Odie of Nevada, considered the text of O'Ryan's report "unfortunate" and declared it would not receive their general approval.

Clubman Returns to Chauffeur Job

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Francis O. French, son of Amos Tuck French of Tuxedo Park and first cousin of William H. Vanderbilt, has become a taxicab chauffeur again. Awaiting a fare as his taxicab was parked in West Seventy-fourth street, he asserted he liked his job, and would not again branch out in the business field. He became a taxicab driver last October, but quit the job a week later, when the publicity accorded him induced him to believe he could be a successful clothing salesman. He continues a member of the Harvard and Knickerbocker clubs. He is earning $55 a week plus tips.

'Human Freight' En Route to Asia

HONOLULU, Jan. 16.—Ira Sparks of Peru, Ind., who arrived here a year ago from San Francisco in a packing box, having consigned himself as "freight" en route to the Orient, sailed for the Far East in a 25-foot dory. He announced that he was bound for the Holy Land to "seek the true word of God." A crowd estimated at 1500 witnessed his departure. Sparks' initial pilgrimage ended in Honolulu when he was forced to "come up for air" after being several days in his packing box in the hold of the steamship.

The composer of "Kathleen Maroureen" was rewarded with twenty-five dollars for his famous song.

In view of the fact it had not received approval, they objected to its publication as a committee document.

ABSOLVE DEATH CAR DRIVER AT PROBE

Held in custody briefly pending the verdict of a coroner's jury in the case of Benjamin Lamb, L. G. Hoff, companion of Lamb in a fatal automobile accident, was at liberty here today, the jury having found the accident to be unavoidable.

At the request of Chief Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley, Deputy Sheriff Herman Zabel took Hoff into custody late yesterday at the inquest, after testimony had been given to the effect that Hoff, driver of the car in which Lamb was fatally injured, had steered the road to avoid one accident, only to encounter another.

Witnesses also testified that a bottle found on an embankment near Hoff's car after the wreck had been tossed there from a group around Hoff's car just after the wreck took place.

Hoff was detained as the jury retired to deliberate upon its verdict, but, when a verdict of "unavoidable accident" was returned, he was released.

Hoff and Lamb, both employed at the Harkelroad camp on the Irvine ranch, were returning from a drive to the county park late Sunday when the wreck took place on the El Modena grade, according to Hoff's testimony.

Hoff said that between the two curves on the grade he was driving behind another machine that slowed rather suddenly. Forced to turn aside to avoid a collision, he started to drive around the other car and a third car that was ahead of it, he said, estimating his speed to be about twenty miles per hour.

A car driven by Fernando Guman of Anaheim was coming up the grade. Hoff said he saw that he had room enough to "get through" and that was the last he remembered until he picked himself out of the wreck of his car, which had been faced about and turned on its side at the left-hand side of the road. Lamb's body, he said, was sprawled half inside the car and half on the pavement.

Conflicting Rum Testimony
Guman testified that he tried to avoid Hoff's car and drove his own machine entirely off the pavement in a fruitless effort to escape the collision. Afterwards, he said, he saw the bottle tossed on the bank above Hoff's car, saw it break, and its liquid contents spattering.

Deputy Sheriff Zabel testified that while investigating the scene later, he found the broken bottle. He said that the nurse at the county hospital who received Lamb there after the accident informed him that she had detected the odor of liquor on Lamb's breath.

Hoff had testified that neither he nor Lamb had been drinking, and that there was no liquor in their car.

According to testimony brought out at the inquest, Lamb was 32 years old and had been employed at the Harkelroad camp as a teamster for about a year.

UNITED STATES OF EUROPE FORESEEN

LONDON, Jan. 16.—A United States of Europe—it sounds like a Utopian dream in these days of chaos and confusion.

Yet, there are those who are optimistic enough to believe that a United States of Europe can be created, made an actuality and removed from the realm of dreams. Dr. R. N. Coudenhove Kalergi of Vienna, is one of the leaders and proponents of the Pan-European society, which aims at a United States of Europe, which will assume world leadership and will not include Great Britain.

The Pan-European society proposes a conference of all of the nations of Europe for the formation of a co-operating, united Europe, under one flag.

False Idealism
Until there is a United States of Europe there can be no world federation, Dr. Kalergi says, and he declares that present talk of world federation is merely hypocritical idealism thrown in the way of capitalists, whose advantage it is to keep Europe in a state of international chaos.

Germany must find a friend, Kalergi reasons, and it must be either France or Russia, for the British Empire has too many ties through blood relationship and language all over the world to allow it to be a real friend of any European power. Kalergi admits there is still much hatred between the French and the Germans, and this is at present the chief obstacle to the scheme for unity, but if France refuses to unite with Germany, then Germany will go to Russia. And, much sooner than some people think, warns the doctor, Russia, with the aid of German scientific knowledge and American money, will be on its feet again. And there will be another war, in which France will be crushed.

But Kalergi hopes France will listen to argument and will join with Germany and other European nations to form a United States of Europe.

Dr. Kalergi is so enthusiastic about the plan that he has written a book, "Pan-Europe," setting forth his ideas and those for which the Pan-European society is working.

The great European federation of states, as proposed, would be the greatest in the world, having a population of 431,000,000 people, as compared with 212,000,000 in Pan-America, 408,000,000 in East Asia, 145,000,000 in the Russian countries and 454,000,000 in the British Empire.

YOUNG MEN IN POLITICS
LONDON, Jan. 16.—Young men are becoming more active in English politics. In the recent elections, many of the candidates ranged from 21 to 30. And quite a few of them were victorious.

Lives of Slaves Often Sacrificed

RANGOON, Jan. 16.—Human slavery and the practice of sacrificing slaves at religious festivals still exist in the Naga hills, according to a report recently issued by H. A. Thornton, a government commissioner. This district, which is nominally under British rule, lies in northern Burma near the Assam border. The government has received authentic information of the sacrifice of six Naga slaves at different places during the past two months. These victims were bought from head-hunting villages whose inhabitants, though they do not themselves practice human sacrifice, do not hesitate to sell victims to those who desire them.

Slavery in the Naga hills has been decreasing during recent years, largely on account of the difficulty and danger involved in capturing recruits to replace those who die or who redeem themselves. The number found by census takers this year was 215, as opposed to 271 last year. Some have purchased freedom, and others have been liberated by their masters. A few have taken the yellow robe and become Buddhist monks. Those remaining in slavery are said to be either contented with their lot or too lazy and opium-sodden to work out their redemption.

Until recent years most of the slaves in this district were Indians who had been kidnapped in Assam but on account of the increasing hazards of this practice the Nagas have lately confined their raids to mountain tribes nearer at hand. No Indians are known to have been sacrificed since 1921, when two authentic cases were recorded. In capturing new slaves it is customary for the Nagas to search for victims about whom no inquiry is

CLIFF DWELLINGS STILL EXIST IN N. Y.

NEW ORK, Jan. 16.—Gothamites may soon return to their original status—cliff dwellers!

Sounds like a joke? It isn't. For, with the governor's housing commission declaring a "crowding exists in New York today as it never existed in world history before—3000 persons in one city block—and with the state planning commission estimating the growth of the greater city at $10,000,000 by 1934, comes:

Reginald Pelham Bolton, authority on Indian lore, and says: "For $2000 spent in repairs any Manhattanite can find himself an A-1, first-class, right-up-to-the-minute prehistoric dwelling right in the heart of town."

Bolton will take the prospective tenant out to the Inwood Hill section—a few hundred feet off Broadway.

Caves Still There
There, on the rugged sides of the island's rocky cliffs, can still be seen the dwellings of the prehistoric cave dwellers, just as they were before the arrival of the early Dutch. Bolton advocates the bringing of 100 Indians—the descendants of the Delawareans, now scattered through Oklahoma—for tenants here.

He favors fixing up the old cliff apartments for these Indians in the heart of the metropolis just as a touch of color.

Bolton, exploring in the cave ruins of the city, has found many interesting things.

The Naga tribes are not directly related to the more civilized Burmans and inhabit the plains to the south.

Sound Police Nab Bandit Using Gun

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 16.—After a shotgun and rifle battle between policemen and four suspected automobile bandits, Jos Morgan, 22, was captured and confessed to the police that he and his three companions, who escaped, had intended robbing a local grocery store. Twenty shots were fired in the chase before Morgan was captured.

Because of engine trouble the bandits abandoned their car. The police then chased the suspected robbers on foot, and captured Morgan.

Cox Still Believes In Nations League

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 15.—James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio and Democratic standard-bearer in the 1920 presidential campaign, maintains the same position on the league of nations as he did almost four years ago, when he made it the keynote of his campaign for election as chief executive of the nation.

He so informed Ohio Democrats in unequivocal terms here at a Jackson day dinner, at which what were regarded as the opening blasts of Democracy's 1924 campaign in Ohio were sounded. Carrying the league of nations theme throughout his address, he indicated that he believed that the participation of the United States in foreign affairs is still as much a major issue as when he stumped the country in 1920. He gave no intimation, however, as to what his intentions might be in regard to the coming presidential campaign.

Defies Age by Using Ordinary Buttermilk to Beautify Complexion

This Pretty Girl Tells Druggists Not to Take Anyone's Money Unless This Delightful New Vanishing Cream Shows a Decided Improvement.

Buttermilk Cream creates beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dull, most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its use after application. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness around the eyes, freckles, crow's feet or lines around the mouth, ugly finger nails, or just a simple roughness of the face, hands or arms caused by wind or sun, you will find that any or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Howard's Buttermilk Cream. All druggists can supply you.—adv.

Pastor's Study Here Is Looted of Cornet Again

The second robbery within a month of the pastor's study at the First Christian church, corner of Sixth street and Broadway, was reported to police here today. In both instances the thief, apparently musically inclined, stole only a cornet. The latest robbery which occurred yesterday afternoon, was reported by the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor.

The pastor left his study between 2:30 and 3 p. m., he said, when the theft was committed. The first robbery of the study occurred the night of December 16, when a cornet and a case were taken. A church door had been left open, and the thief picked the lock to the study door. Nothing else was disturbed.

PRESBYTERIAN FOLK TOLD OF FUND NEED

Missionary work conducted in foreign fields by the First Presbyterian church has been placed in jeopardy and retrenchment will be necessary unless members of the church organization throughout the United States contribute freely to the $15,000,000 fund scheduled as necessary to meet the programed activities of all departments of the church for 1924.

This fact had been impressed today upon 150 men and women members who attended the brotherhood meeting at the First Presbyterian church last night, the Rev. Lewis M. Mudge stated clerk of the Presbyterian general assembly, and Dr. Harold McAfee Robinson, secretary of the Presbyterian board of education.

Recognized leaders in the national organization, the statements of the men carried weight with their auditors. The Rev. William E. Roberts, pastor, said that the local church would meet its quota of the $15,000,000 budget amounting to approximately $15,000.

Tells Finance Need

Dr. Robinson presented the financial side of the church operations as fully as possible in the short time given him for his address.

Stating that the work of the general church is divided into four boards, he presented on a blackboard the amount of the budget distributed to each board, and explained the different branches of work coming under each.

The four boards have been apportioned $12,000,000 of the national budget, the other $3,000,000 having been apportioned to women's and other departments.

The general council has set aside $5,000,000 to the national board of missions and $4,000,000 to the board of foreign missions. Dr. Robinson stated, when he stressed the necessity of contribution by the national membership of the full budget in order to maintain the apportionments to the missionary boards.

Here From Philadelphia Touching on Christian education, and relating the importance of more attention to this feature of church work, Dr. Robinson said that "Protestant churches are paying for janitors four times as much as they spend on Christian education."

"The supreme mission of the church is to teach Christianity and the supreme opportunity is the teaching of religion to the young people," he added.

Dr. Mudge said that if each member of the church would make a contribution equal to 2½ cents a day for one year, the full budget of $15,000,000 would be raised. Loyalty, courage and sacrifice, he added, were essential to success of the church.

The visiting officials made their addresses in the auditorium of the church, after adjournment of the Brotherhood meeting in the basement. They came here from Philadelphia to attend the Presbyterian exposition opening in Los Angeles January 21.

W. S. Suddaby, presided at the latter meeting, and introduced the Rev. Guy W. Wadsworth, superintendent of extension work of the Los Angeles presbytery; Dr. Mudge and Dr. Robinson, each of whom made brief remarks. Solos by M. K. Beatty, accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong, were given at the club meeting, and there was community singing, led by Beatty. Mrs. Thomas Willis offered a solo at the meeting in the auditorium.

WOMAN DRIVER TO FACE KILLING CASE

Mrs. Edna Bledsoe of Long Beach today was being held for trial, under $10,000 bail, on a charge of manslaughter, her case growing out of fatal injuries sustained by F. M. Brunton, formerly of Huntington Beach, when he was struck down by the woman's car, at Long Beach, Christmas day.

Police Judge Hawkins at Long Beach, according to reports received here, was told that Mrs. Bledsoe was driving on the wrong side of road when Brunton was struck down.

Brunton, formerly city forester at Huntington Beach, was a brother of Mrs. Scott Willes, residing on West Third street, Santa Ana.

Mrs. Brunton, hurt seriously in the same accident that killed her husband, is recovering at Long Beach, it was learned here.

Heads of County Medical Society Are Introduced

Following formal introduction to the membership present last night at the annual banquet at St. Ann's Inn of the Orange County Medical association, officers of the organization today were functioning in their new positions.

Seventy-five men and women were present.

Addresses by S. C. Hartranft of Fullerton and a paper by Dr. Besic Reichle were the scheduled features of the program. The latter discussed "Better Medicine."

Dr. G. M. Tralle presided as toastmaster. Piano duets were given by Mrs. Ione Tunison Peek and Miss Mabel Woodward and vocal selections by Mrs. Hazel Landers Hummel.

GIRLS INTEREST THEMSELVES IN BABY CLINIC

High school and junior college girls today were busy preparing for the opening of a clinic for Mexican babies, on West Fifth street, in the Artesia district.

In conjunction with the home-teacher work among the Mexicans, this clinic will be operated one day a week from 1:30 to 3 p. m. That day will probably be Thursday, according to announcement made by Mrs. Lenore Panunzio, home teacher for the city schools.

Through the social service departments of the Girls' league and the Y. W. C. A., the school girls are to provide most of the furnishings for the clinic. They will also provide assistants for the nurse and doctor in charge.

Not only are the girls demonstrating an active interest in the clinic, but they also are sewing for the unfortunate children. Several dozen little dresses have been distributed by Mrs. Panunzio.

Miss Enid Twist will have charge of the work for the Y. W. C. A., and Miss Virginia Thatcher, president of the Girls' league, will supervise the league's part in the opening of the clinic this week.

Hearing Date Is Set In Burglary

Frank Gonzales, burglary suspect, was held in the county jail here today in default of $2,000 bail pending his preliminary hearing in Justice J. B. Cox's court January 24 at 2 p. m.

Gonzales, who lives in the Imperial valley, he said, is accused of entering the Miller residence on Tustin avenue near Seventeenth street January 12. The owner of the house, returning from a neighboring house, said he saw Gonzales leaving the premises. He found the house ransacked, but nothing was missing.

Gonzales was found to have a criminal record, according to the sheriff's office. He was said to have served six months in 1921 on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Man's Appeal In Crash Case Fails

W. J. Bryan had today failed in his appeal from a recent judgment by Justice J. B. Cox, who awarded Emma E. Malarney $250 damages against Bryan, as the result of an automobile accident near La Habra in April, 1922.

Bryan's appeal to the superior court was heard by Judge F. C. Drumm who, late yesterday, sustained the judgment of the lower court.

Attorney Z. B. West Jr. represented Emma Malarney, the firm of Ames and McFadden, Anaheim attorneys, appearing for Bryan.

Drawing of Moon Shows Students Here Are 'Stars'

The latest addition to the official teachers' bulletin board at the high school today was a series of neatly-drawn pictures of the moon, stars and various other phenomena of the heavens.

Students in Miss Jennie Lasby's junior college astronomy classes drew the series from observations they made through the ten-inch telescope in the observatory on top of the high school auditorium building.

This observatory was built by Junior college astronomy students last year, at which time considerable interest was taken in the fact that the students went so far as to construct their own telescope.

A drawing of the moon, made from observation through this telescope, appeared on the bulletin board today and caused much congratulatory comment for Philip Taylor, who did the work.

WILL DEMAND DEATH PENALTY FOR TRIO

(By United Press Leased Wire) LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—The selection of a jury for the trial of Jack Ferdinand, John Sears and John Gergac, alleged murderers of Arthur Chapman, will probably be completed today.

The trio is accused of robbing Chapman while he and Mrs. Katherine Bohmer were sitting in his car by the side of the road, and then shooting him down in cold blood, although he had offered no resistance.

Deputy District Attorney Buron Fitts announced that he will make every effort to secure the death penalty. He challenged several veniremen yesterday who stated that they had conscientious scruples against the imposition of the sentence of death.

DADDY SILVERWOOD SICK IN HONOLULU

(By United Press Leased Wire) LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—George E. Nagel, present head of the F. B. Silverwood company, left here today for Honolulu, called there by serious illness of Francis B. (Daddy) Silverwood, well known merchant and song writer.

Silverwood has been touring Australia and other Pacific points for two years. Message announcing his illness did not state its nature, but he is declared in a serious condition.

Silverwood, besides being a leader in the business world, has written many popular songs. "I Love You, California" and "Poor Butterfly" are the two best known.

Cal. Armenians Send Cattle Home

KARA KALA, Armenia, Jan. 16.—Eight prize Swiss bulls and six prize hogs have been received at the former ranch of the Grand Duke Nicholas of Russia, now a Near East Relief stock farm and agricultural school. They are the joint contribution of the Swiss government and a group of Armenians in California, to a Near East Relief project to revive the once prosperous livestock industry of Armenia. The Kara Kala ranch in pre-war days was one of the most famous in the Caucasus. The Near East Relief obtained it without cost from the Armenian government a year and a half ago as a stock farm and school for orphans in its care, 80 per cent of whom will eventually earn their living as farmers and stock breeders.

Oil Company Head In Death Plunge

GALVESTON, Tex., Jan. 16.—An autopsy was to be held today over the body of W. B. O'Neill, 40, assistant general superintendent of the Sinclair Refining company. O'Neill's body was found in the courtyard of the Marine building here by the night watchman. It was believed he fell from his office window.

Methods of Calif. Physician Upheld Soon After Death

JONESBORO, Ark., Jan. 16.—The "Abrams method" of diagnosis was vindicated in United States district court here two days after the death of its founder, when Federal Judge Jacob Triebel instructed a jury to return a verdict of not guilty in the trial of Dr. Mary E. Lecocq, charged with using the mails to defraud.

The testimony of several witnesses that they had been materially benefited by the "blood analysis" tests made by the woman physician prompted the court to instruct dismissal.

Be Good, and Do Good, Advice of Ex-College Head

Fifty men present at the meeting of the Men's club of the First Baptist church last night today were recalling many points made in an address by Dr. J. P. Greene, winter resident of Santa Ana, and former president of the William Jewell college at Liberty, Mo.

Speaking on "Looking Ahead for 1924," the venerable educator declared that for 1924 men should resolve, first to become good men, and, second, to do more good in their community.

"No matter what success a man may have, he falls short if he is not a good man and does not do good in his community," declared the speaker. "Men and women should cultivate noble thinking—that should be their mark for 1924."

E. C. Rendstrom, president of the club, presided.

STATE CITRUS CROP FOR '23 ROLLS UP 71 MILLIONS

Fruit Exchange Manager Predicts Increased Production For This Year

1923 SETS RECORD

California Ships Fifty Thousand Carloads of Oranges and Grapefruit

Based on returns received by the members of the California Fruit Growers' exchange for the year ended Dec. 31, 1923, General Manager E. G. Dezell estimates that the state of California received $71,007,705.98 for the total citrus crop. Delivered to the eastern jobbers, the citrus shipment had a value of $105,486,506.91, which included $34,478,800.98 for freight and refrigeration.

The United States and Canada consumed more oranges and lemons in the 1922-23 season than at any time in their history, according to the estimates in Dezell's annual report to the members of the exchange. Because of cold weather in January, 1922, shipments from California were somewhat lighter than in the previous year, but Florida shipments together with imports of Porto Rican and Cuban oranges and grapefruit. Satsumas from Japan, lemons from Italy and production from scattered sections in the United States resulted in a total of approximately 100,000 carloads of oranges and grapefruit and 13,000 carloads of lemons.

Brisk Demand
The demand for citrus fruits has kept pace with the increased supplies through improved handling methods, broader distribution and intensive educational work with the consumers, the report says. This equilibrium between demand and supply has been maintained despite the trebling of orange and grapefruit supplies in 20 years, while the population of the United States and Canada has increased only about one-third.

Preliminary estimates by officials of the California Fruit Growers' exchange forecast considerable increase in production for the next season in California and Florida. The expansion will come, it is believed, from the large acreage of young oranges and grapefruit in Florida, and of Valencia oranges and lemons in California.

Of the total 1922-23 citrus crop, California shipped 50,386 carloads of oranges and grapefruit and 8,741 of lemons. For the year ended Oct. 31, 1921, the exchange handled 36,999 cars of oranges and grapefruit and 8,259 of lemons, making a total of 42,258, or 75.8 per cent of the shipments from the state.

Expressed in terms of units, the members of the exchange shipped 14,645,070 boxes of oranges and grapefruit and 3,212,347 boxes of lemons.

To assist in the distribution of the record crop and to educate the public to consume oranges and lemons the California Fruit Growers' exchange carried on an intensive advertising campaign. These advertisements appeared on approximately 46,000,000 copies of leading magazines in full-page size and natural colors, and in 151,000,000 copies of newspapers.

Care of Your Eyes

OPTOMETRIST

THE HUMAN EYE

It is said that every mechanical device except the wheel is contained in the human body. That is, the machines and instruments which man creates are the externalizations of something within himself.

From this point of view the human eye corresponds to the camera, for mechanically it is little more than a photographic apparatus, and not a particularly perfect one at that—inferior in many respects to the manufactured article.

But by the greatness of his spirit man has supplemented the eye's deficiencies by optical devices—the mirror, the telescope, the microscope—by means of which his vision far exceeds that of the eagle at one end of the scale, and at the other that of the ant.

Think of it! That "eyes—the frailest and the softest things, who shut their coward gates on atomies," that are themselves but atoms compared with what they compass, hold in their crystal depths the ever-changing pageant of the world!

The eye is more than a camera, more than a crystal ball in whose depth life is every moment mirrored as in a magic looking glass. It is an orb more radiant, more magnificent, more truly great than the sun itself; because the heat of its rays can pass from one heart to another, their light can penetrate from soul to soul.

Who shall resolve this mystery of vision—this eye, a microcosm of the whole universe that can be maintained by a cinder and destroyed by the pressure of a pin!

Her Hair Is Just Right!

Perhaps one could call this young woman "some chicken" without being bromidic. She is Miss Bertha O'Connor, telephone operator of the Cincinnati, O., and she won first prize at a recent poultry show because her hair was an exact match for the plumage of Rhode Island Red chickens. Forty-two other girls tried, but Miss O'Connor's hair won her first prize—and a fine wrist watch.

Member Campaign Goal of 2000 Is Set for Bureau

"We have no way of knowing the definite results of the membership drive that is being conducted, but all indications point to our obtaining more than two thousand memberships," said A. M. Stanley, secretary-manager of the Orange county farm bureau, today. "With only a few exceptions all of the commitments are on the job and the reports are coming in favorably to a large membership."

COUNTY MEN WIN POULTRY HONORS

Orange county poultrymen brought home some prizes from the recent poultry show in Los Angeles, according to Will Hatch, Fred Heying of Anaheim won first prize on his Reds, and Perkins & Koenig of Orange were close competitors for second place in the egg laying contest, with their Reds. Considering that over three thousand best birds of Southern California were shown at this exposition these winnings are significant.

EXPERTS HERE BACK TO FARM TO DISCUSS 'BREAK' AID

Farm Advisor and Citrus Specialist Will Visit Protected Orchards

Thursday, January 24, at 2 p. m., has been set for a very important field tour, held under the auspices of the farm bureau and the agricultural extension service.

The subject to be handled in this tour will be primarily the management of windbreaks. Several groves will be visited during the tour which experienced benefits this season from the use of windbreaks.

Contrasted conditions will also be featured, showing a comparison between protected and unprotected orchards under similar exposures.

Among the important phases of windbreak management to be taken up in the discussions at the various groves will be that of irrigation, fertilization, root pruning and varieties.

W. R. Schoonover, citrus specialist of the college of agriculture, and H. E. Wahlberg, farm advisor, will conduct the tour.

It is anticipated that several scores of growers will participate in the tour, as the matter of wind damage has been one of particular consequence this year in certain exposed sections.

The field tour will start from the Villa Park Orchards association packing house. The public is invited to attend.

Says Conditions Are Felt In All Parts of the World

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—There has been little or no response to the "back to the farm" movement.

Shortage of farm help is now felt the world over, according to Dr. Elwood Mead, professor of rural institutions of the University of California. He has just returned from a trip around the world.

Professor Mead declared that the distressing farm conditions felt in America are common in nearly every country of the world, and he declared, many governments are doing their best to keep the farmer from crowding the cities.

"By making the farmer bear the brunt of the after-war deflation the established farmer is having a hard time to keep on the soil and a new farmer finds it impossible," said Prof. Mead.

"In England the land taken from big estates is going back to grass. The English farmers demand a bonus of two shillings a bushel on wheat and the government cannot afford to pay it. Farm hands there get $5.50 a week and board themselves."

Three methods of aid to the farmer are suggested by Prof. Mead: 1—A more generous system of farm credits. 2—Aid and encouragement through co-operative associations. 3—Extension of land settlements; either through private banks as is now being done in upper Egypt, or through state aid as is being done in Durham and Delhi state colonies of California.

COUNTY HARBOR LEGION POST IS FORMED

BALBOA, Jan. 16.—Newport Harbor Post, American Legion, was formally organized here last night with a charter membership of 28 ex-service men.

Raymond Brunswick, prominent resident of this city through whose efforts the Post was formed, was honored by being named Post Commander.

Other officers are: Percy J. Wilson, vice commander; Ernest Griffin, adjutant; H. C. Whitson, financial officer; "Sarge" Clark, historian; Theodore Robbins, sergeant-at-arms, and Joe Joist, chaplain.

Meeting Time Set.
It was decided to hold meetings on the first and third Tuesday of each month. Permanent quarters for the post will be chosen in the next few days.

It was decided to stage a membership drive at once, a check of the former "roughboys," "gobs" and "leathernecks" in Newport, Costa Mesa and this city showing a large number who did not take advantage of the Post charter membership offer.

After the election of officers, "chow" was served while Way's orchestra played a number of very pleasing selections. Commander Brunswick then announced the composition of his committees for the coming year.

Committees Named.
Post paper—H. L. Sherman, chairman; Matthews.

Commercial entertainment—Greecley, chairman; Wilkins, Weiner.

House—Reiber, chairman; Jump.

Legal—Whitson, chairman; Briggs.

Athletic—Wilkins, chairman; White.

Membership—Finster, chairman; Clair.

Publicity—Davis, chairman; Matthews.

Financial—N. Wilson, chairman; Pendleton.

Newport Harbor Post starts off with a strong charter membership made up of live wires, who, under the able direction of Post Commander Brunswick, will, undoubtedly, do much to promote the welfare of the ex-service men in this section as well as strive for civic betterment.

Vicious Dog Owner Sued for $10,025

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Damages of $10,025, for injuries incurred when a vicious dog is said to have caused Mrs. Ethel Stein to fall down a flight of steps and break her leg, are asked against R. L. Lincoln, 863 Oak street, owner of the dog, in a suit filed by Mrs. Stein and her husband, W. H. Stein, tailor.

The Steins came to visit Lincoln and his wife, according to the complaint, and on entering the house, the Lincoln's dog attacked Mrs. Stein, who fell down a flight of steps, breaking her leg and suffering internal injuries.

Farmer Is World Citizen

Expert, Returning From Abroad, Issues Warning to Americans

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—Your true cosmopolitan these days isn't the polished city dweller but the farmer.

The city dweller's outlook often is bound by the walls of his own office or apartment. The farmer, with attention forced to far away lands by his dependence on export trade, is necessarily a world citizen.

Authority for that statement is Gray Silver, farmer from Apple Pie Ridge, near Martinsburg, W. Va., the Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau federation, just returned from observing European conditions at first hand.

"Isolation," summarizes all that Silver, speaking to and for his farmers, does NOT want. Such is the message in his report on the trip abroad, and the tenor of his conversation while visiting farm bureau headquarters here.

"The export market consumes about one-third the production of the American farmer's land," says Silver.

"Take away that market and the farmer would have to reduce his output by one-third. This would mean a third of the farmers would go completely bankrupt, or else a third of each farm would revert to weeds and brush. The farmer simply has to watch his market."

"Now we are faced by a decline of prosperity in Europe, a slump in purchasing power and a falling off in output of manufactured goods. My observation convinces me that unless industrial Europe can get to work again at full speed and efficiency, our markets there are bound to keep on dwindling. We are in the same boat with those countries over there."

"Furthermore, the interest of agriculture in the export market is the common interest of the American people. The rest of the people in the long run smile or moan with agriculture."

Reparations are the kernel of the whole problem, according to Silver, with the tariff and currency readjustment to avoid isolation. The object is to help Europe buy what America has to sell.

"Settle the German reparations debt at any figure you choose, and they will begin doing business," says Silver. "With all national debts paid off by cheap marks, Germany can begin to make her factories hum as soon as there is stability as to what she'll have to pay. My personal belief is that America can help toward that object without risk of any harmful entanglements."

"On the point of tariff and credits, the farmer is not asking anything more than other citizens have received. The theory of those systems is that they are to help the needy fellow, and right now the needy fellow is the farmer. There will be no end to the shameful anomaly of a surplus of farm products in the western hemisphere and starvation and nakedness in the eastern unit until we resume business on a friendly basis."

STAMP GROUP SETS ATTENDANCE RECORD

Featured by the attendance of eighteen persons—a record number for the organization—the stated monthly dinner of the "nameless" stamp collectors' club of Orange county was held at Ketter's cafe here last night.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. George Perkins of Newark, N. Y., who are spending the winter in Santa Ana. Mrs. Perkins is an enthusiastic collector of the early issues of United States stamps. She told of the huge stamp collection she saw last summer while on a tour of Europe.

W. C. Henry, Los Angeles, president of the Collectors' Club of Southern California, also a guest, told the local collectors of a meeting of that organization to be held in Los Angeles February 12, at which time new light is expected to be shed on the now famous Grinnell-Klemann controversy regarding the genuineness of a number of Hawaiian missionary stamps.

Virtually without exception those present signed applications for membership in the Collectors' Club of Southern California.

Those present included O. H. Phinney, Eddie West, Frank J. Ford, Arthur Kubit, Arthur Norman, J. E. Alexander, Stanley Alexander, A. J. Gorman, H. A. Reuter and Adelbert Porter, all of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. George Perkins, Newark, N. Y.; Walter K. Brown and Victor G. Loly of Anaheim; H. Rochester, Costa Mesa; W. C. Henry, Charles Sidney Thompson, R. K. Milne, Edward Mencer, Los Angeles.

The next meeting will be held February 19.

County Boundary Line Being Sought

ELY, Nev., Jan. 16.—Lost: A boundary line somewhere between Elko and White Pine counties. Finder please return to County Treasurer, Elko county. The boundary line was missed recently when county officials came to log-headers in the collection of taxes. According to state law, the passes through Camp Ruby, an old mining camp. But both oral and documentary evidence shows that Camp Ruby, like the proverbial will-o'-the-wisp, has flitted from place to place on the mountain side as new ore veins were opened.

Crossing Signal Effort of Farm Bureau Praised

Appreciation of the work done by the Orange county farm bureau in securing a wig-wag signal for the Batavia-street crossing at Orange was expressed in a letter received here today by A. M. Stanley, secretary-manager of the bureau.

Written by M. Eltiste, farm implement distributor of that city, the letter follows:

"You perhaps cannot realize how I appreciate your help in this matter. This instance again proves what good use a farmer organization can be put to when properly and capably managed." He continued that several times his life had been endangered at the Batavia-street crossing.

"The power of the farm bureau," Stanley declared, "is rapidly becoming recognized by state and railroad officials. We kept after the matter and our efforts were successful."

SIGN LANGUAGE USE TOLD TO ROTARIANS

Intricacies of the sign language used by the deaf were explained interestingly and graphically yesterday to members of the Santa Ana Rotary club, at the luncheon at St. Ann's Inn by the Rev. N. F. Jensen, pastor of the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran church of Orange.

For eighteen years the Rev. Mr. Jensen was engaged in teaching the deaf. He showed how signs were used to picture a thing, and the finger alphabet is used as little as possible.

The fact that centuries ago the deaf were abused and cursed was stressed by the speaker, in tracing the history of the attitude of the world toward deaf persons. Schools of teaching have been developed, one depending upon the lip language, the other upon the sign language. The Rev. Mr. Jensen said that a combination of the two is favored by him. Only about 25 per cent of the deaf master the lip language, and then only by years of study, while with sign language even children of tender years learn rapidly. It was the statement of the speaker that there are between 90,000 and 95,000 deaf persons in the United States.

C. F. Skirven presided at yesterday's luncheon. J. A. Goodell, a national director of the thrift movement, who is here to aid the Y. M. C. A. financial campaign, outlined the purposes embodied in the National Thrift week program, starting tomorrow.

Mother Sees Babe Perish in Flames

INDIO, Cal., Jan. 16.—Returning from a visit to neighbors here Mrs. James Richards was met by her 4-year-old son, screaming that their home was on fire. She reached the place too late to rescue her 2-year-old boy, whom she had left on a bed at home, asleep. The house and all its contents and four automobiles parked nearby were destroyed.

DREW MERRILL OF MANILA IS CHOSEN DEAN OF U. OF C. BY REGENTS

Appointment to Important Post Comes Only After Thorough Search

DUTIES WILL BE WIDE
New Chief Is Said to Be Possessed of Highest Qualifications

Dr. Elmer Drew Merrill, director of the bureau of science of the United States in Manila, this week was named dean of the college of agriculture of the University of California. Dr. Merrill, will assume the duties of this office at the beginning of the fiscal year, on July 1.

The appointment of Dr. Merrill comes after a search that lasted nearly two years, and during which men from Maine to the Philippines were considered, as Dr. W. W. Campbell, president of the university, recently announced. When Dr. Thomas Forsyth Hunt, resigned, more than a year ago, the quest for a new dean began, and when it was evident he could not be secured for this year, Dr. H. J. Webber, head of the agricultural division of the university, accepted the appointment, with the understanding that it would be temporary.

For some weeks it had been considered certain the position would be offered Dr. Merrill, and with his arrival from Manila December 1, this belief was strengthened. Dr. Merrill is considered by Dr. Campbell and the board of regents of the university as a real find for the institution.

Tells Of His Work.
The University of California, in announcing his appointment, says of the new dean:

Dr. Merrill has for the past four years served as director of the government bureau of science in the Philippines, charged with the duty of administering all of the activities of the Philippine government in scientific subjects—such as those pertaining to the bureau of chemistry, the bureau of standards, and other government bureaus as established at Washington.

His scientific exertions in the Philippines have, however, covered all the past twenty-two years, first in immediate connection with agriculture and then as professor in the University of the Philippines. As director of the bureau of science he continued his intimate relations with agriculture.

Traveled In Orient.
Identical to his official duties have been much travel and observation in the Dutch East Indies, in China, in Australia, in Europe. In 1920 he represented the Philippine Islands at the Pan-Pacific congress of Science at Honolulu; and likewise at Sydney and Melbourne in 1923.

Recent honors are his election to the National Academy of Science and to the Chapter Phi Beta Kappa at his alma mater, the University of Maine, where he was graduated in 1898. Dr. Merrill has published 180 or more of technical and scientific articles.

Among other evidences of the high regard in which the new dean is held is the sphere of learning and of administration, is the statement that Governor General Leonard Wood, a few years ago, expressed the urgent desire that Dr. Merrill accept the presidency of the University of the Philippines. This he felt obliged to refuse.

In the prime of life and after a score of years of scientific and executive achievement Merrill undertakes with the promise of great usefulness the administration of a university office second in importance only to that of the presidency.

He will have immediate responsibility for an agricultural institution of vast dimensions, with its headquarters at Berkeley, a large and flourishing branch at Davis, and another such branch—the graduate school of tropical agriculture—at Riverside, and thriving experiment stations in Fresno, Santa Clara, Imperial and other counties.

CLUB IN 100 MEMBERSHIP

Headed by J. H. Smart, wholesale grocer, as president, and with Mrs. E. E. Remberg, sister of the late President Warren G. Harding, as first vice-president, the Santa Ana Coolidge-for-President club, organized at an enthusiastic meeting held here last night, was today functioning with nearly 100 members and making active plans for future activities on behalf of the New England candidate for the Republican nomination.

Other officers named at the first meeting of this, the fourth Coolidge club in Orange county, were: Mrs. Ellis Rhodes, second vice-president; J. K. Hermon, third vice-president; W. L. Grubb, fourth vice-president; C. H. Chapman, fifth vice-president; Alex Brownridge, treasurer; Edward McWilliams, secretary.

County Organization

James G. Metzgar served as temporary chairman of last night's meeting, while brief addresses were delivered by J. S. Smart, W. L. Grubb, C. H. Chapman, J. A. Timmons, L. F. Coburn, Justus F. Craemer, Edward McWilliams and others.

Justus F. Craemer, business manager of the Orange News and an ardent Coolidge worker, told the newly-elected officers that the greatest possible enthusiasm attended the launching of a Coolidge club in Orange, and urged the club to send representatives to a meeting scheduled for Orange next Friday night, when a county-wide Coolidge club will be organized.

"At this meeting," said Craemer, "we will select delegates to a congressional district meeting, to be held at Riverside Saturday, January 19. At the Riverside meeting names for delegates to the Republican national convention at Cleveland will be presented and acted upon. We extend a cordial invitation to all Coolidge supporters to attend this meeting. With Coolidge clubs functioning in Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton, and Orange, we will now organize a county-wide Coolidge club. Another club will soon be launched at Huntington Beach."

Sister Praises Coolidge

Addressing the meeting, Lewis F. Coburn of Orange, said:

"We know we are safe with Coolidge, and we can make no mistake in keeping him in office. I predict Calvin Coolidge will get the nomination at Cleveland, and I foresee an overwhelming Republican victory at the polls in November."

Mrs. E. E. Remberg, chosen first vice-president of the new club, said: "I consider President Coolidge the logical man for the high office of President. He has conducted himself in a manner to win and hold the admiration of the American people. He will make an ideal President. He was a warm and gracious friend of my brother, and I am sure Mrs. Harding regards him very highly. His wife is a pleasing, lovely character, and they are fitting occupants of the White House."

Those attending last night's meeting and those signing as members of the Coolidge club included:

Marked by an excellent vaudeville performance and tempting refreshments, the women's room of Santa Ana lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E., was thrown open to the public here last night, with more than 300 guests in attendance.

This room, recently ordered equipped by the trustees of the local lodge, was decorated by Ernest Fox and won the unstinted praise of scores of feminine visitors. In the opinion of Grand Exalted Ruler James G. McFarland, a recent visitor here, it is one of the most beautifully-finished units of the kind in the United States.

Officers and members of the local lodge, playing the part of host, escorted many visitors through the new quarters, including the modern dining room adjoining the women's room. Here clubmen and their guests will be served at virtually all hours of the day.

Music for last night's program was furnished by Chapman's orchestra, with special vaudeville features by the Brown sisters and other entertainers. Dancers utilized the basement floor until a late hour. Many out-of-town guests attended the opening of the women's quarters.

The new room, equipped with many necessary comforts, will be at the disposal of the wives, sisters, mothers and other women relatives of Elks at all times. Many social functions will be staged here.

Many prominent realtors of Orange county today were making plans for being present tomorrow night at the second annual banquet of the Anaheim Realty Board, to be held at Elks club at 6:30 o'clock, according to A. E. Hargrove, past president of the Anaheim board.

Reservations indicate the presence of more than 125 men and women. The program will consist of addresses and musical features, and dancing may be programmed if disposal of scheduled business permits.

Introduction of new officers of the board will be one of the features. B. H. Sldnam and J. L. Swarthout, president and secretary respectively, are among the officers who will be introduced.

Among the prominent brokers scheduled to participate in the speaking program are Henry Barbour, Long Beach, president of the California Real Estate association; Edwin F. Kelsor, Sacramento, state real estate commissioner; Glenn D. Williams, Los Angeles, secretary of the state association.

COUNTY REALTORS TO ATTEND MEET

Stockholders in the California Wire company and the California Cordage company, manufacturing concerns of Orange, today were receiving semi-annual dividend checks of $4 per share, it was learned here.

The management of the enterprises has extended an invitation to Santa Ana residents to visit their factories tomorrow and Friday. Special attention will be given to conducting visitors through the plants.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Bessie B. Culver was born in Storey county, Iowa, October 3, 1873; she departed this life at her late residence near Westminster, January 12, 1924, aged 51 years, 3 months and 9 days.

With her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buck, she came to California when 2 years old settling near Westminster. Up to the time of her demise she has resided in the neighborhood.

In December, 1895, she was married to J. W. Culver. After a short, but severe illness she passed away. To lament her departure, and to cherish her memory, she leaves her husband, J. W. Culver and five children Mrs. Myrtle Letson, Mrs. Lorene Glaser, Ethelene, Warren and Dorothy Culver. She also leaves four brothers—John H. Sherman, Ellisworth and Charles Buck, besides a large number of other relatives.

Associations of long years standing, ties of loved ones, friends and neighbors—these are ended. We are here in this service in sympathy to lay away the earthly tenement, and to catch, if we may, the message of her passing from us.

The funeral services were held at Smith and Tuttle's parlors, Monday, January 14, at 2 p. m., were conducted by the Rev. W. T. Wardle of Westminster, assisted by the Rev. S. Wilmarth of Winterville. Appropriate music was rendered by the choir of the Westminster church. Interment was made in the Fairhaven cemetery, Santa Ana, a very large attendance of friends attested the respect in which Mrs. Culver was held.

Clifford Martin Shields, the 5-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil R. Shields, 215 South Birch street, this city, was called to the Great Beyond Saturday, January 12, 1924, at about 2 p. m. His passing has left the parents prostrate with grief, and his departure is mourned by a host of friends of the family far and near.

Other members of the family are seriously ill, to add to the sorrow already felt. A brother of the mother, John E. Bingle, 1614 West Fourth street, his wife and children are stricken with the same malady that proved fatal to Master Clifford, and apprehension is felt regarding their recovery. The decedent's grandmother, Mrs. Nora E. Bingle, has not recovered from injuries she sustained when she was struck by an automobile.

Funeral services held for the little fellow, at Winkler's Mission funeral home, Tuesday, January 15, at 10 a. m., were impressive, the profusion of flowers denoting the esteem and deep respect for the grieving parents and relatives. The Rev. Otto S. Russell officiated. Interment was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

LEW CODY INJURED IN FILMING "RENO"

While on location in Yellowstone National park with Rupert Hughes' company filming "Reno," now showing at the West End, Lew Cody sustained a badly wrenched ankle, taken in a spectacular fight with George Walsh, staged on the edge of an erupting geyser for a big scene in the picture. Cody also sustained injuries to his right arm, but careful medical attention prevented his being incapacitated and upon his return to the studio he was able to resume work.

"Reno" is the first feature motion picture to show "Giant Geyser" in full eruption. The all-star cast includes Helene Chadwick, Hedda Hooper, Carmel Myers, Rush Hughes, Dale Fuller, Marjorie Bonner, Kathleen Key and other prominent players.

MORE OLD COIN OWNERS COME TO LIGHT

A portion of Santa Ana's wealth apparently hidden and lying dormant, had been brought to light today when owners of coins minted centuries ago made known the fact to the Register. Several days ago a partial list of Orange county coin possessors was published in this newspaper, but it seems the "surface only has been scratched," for other numismatists have reported.

Elmer Arnold, 405 South Birch street, this city, has a Pine Tree or York shilling minted in 1652 by Captain John Hull. The coin has been in his family for 150 years, Arnold declared.

Roger Wood, 945½ West Pine street, has a collection of 500 pieces, about equally divided between United States and foreign coins. He has examples of nearly all the United States small penny issues, save one or two.

F. B. Edick, 726 South Garvey street, has a collection of coins which he began assembling fifty years ago. It includes specimens of every copper penny issued by this government since 1775, except eight which are so scarce as to be virtually unobtainable. The collection also includes two one-dollar gold pieces minted in 1850 which his mother gave him in 1868.

S. J. Jackson has a collection of colonial, American and foreign coins and currency, dating back to 1793. Some series are complete, in copper coins, for virtually fifty years. His collection of British issues, he said, is perhaps the most interesting. He has several hundred pieces of money in his possession.

Car Stolen From Used-Car Lot Here

Police today were seeking an automobile stolen early this morning for the used-car market of the Reid Motor company, corner of Fifth and Spurgeon streets. J. W. Tubbs, vice-president of the company, said that in his opinion the theft was committed early this morning, as tracks made by the automobile as it was drawn out of the lot were still visible.

Loots Cafe Here of $11 at Night

A boy or unusually small man entered and robbed the Columbia cafe, 113 East Fifth street sometime between Monday night and yesterday morning, police were informed today. Approximately $11 in small change from the cash register in the front of the store. According to George Flores, proprietor, a boy or very small man had climbed the fence from an alley in the rear of the restaurant and had torn the screen from a rear window to gain entrance.

Why Doctors Warn Against Coffee or Tea for Children

THE reason is simple. Coffee and tea contain drugs which tend to irritate the delicate nervous system of children, and so upset health.

The Federal Bureau of Education includes in its rules to promote health among growing school children, the warning that "children should not drink tea or coffee at all."

Why confine the warning to children?

You are careful to protect the health of your children; why, then, take chances with your own health, when a change from coffee or tea is made so easy by Postum.

Postum is a delicious, pure cereal beverage—ideal for children and satisfying to adults.

"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

GRUESOME AXE MURDERS ARE SOLVED

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 16.—Birmingham's notorious axe murders have been solved.

This statement was made today by Solicitor James G. Davis. He declared that within a few days he expects to bring to justice a number of "black slayers," who have claimed 24 lives here during the past three years. In addition to these assaults more than 40 others have been victims of the axe, but recovered.

Cases Near Completion. "My cases are near completion," Solicitor Davis said. "There is some evidence that we are still running down, but I could go to trial today with four of our prisoners. There will be no compromise in the case. I will ask death in every instance."

Contrary to the general opinion, no one negro was responsible for the numerous assaults, according to Davis. He pictured an organized murder gang which was divided into several distinct groups, which operated separately in their sections of the city.

Four Prisoners Held. It is generally known that four prisoners, three negro men and one woman, are held charged with murder in connection with the cases.

Although the state's theory implicated numerous others, Davis did not say whether or not they have been taken into custody.

Robbery was the motive in each case, he said. The victims as a rule were grocers in the outskirts of Birmingham. Only small amounts were taken in each instance. The negroes drew lots to decide who would do the actual killing in each case, he said. The loot would be later divided among members of the gang, according to the solicitor.

Valuable Dogs Are Divorce Suit Crux

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Dogs are the principal point of contention in the suit for divorce filed by Mrs. Margaretta E. Osborne, pretty wife of William T. Osborne, barber supply dealer, through a court order, from disposing with or injuring her costly Boston terriers.

Through her attorneys, Reiser & Deming, Mrs. Osborne asks a decree of divorce on ground of mental cruelty. The wife states that she is willing that Osborne take the automobile and the other property, but she demands that her home at 2639 Twenty-second street, and her eight dogs, which are valued at $1600, be given her in the property settlement.

A court order was issued enjoining Osborne from taking or disposing of the terriers.

Three Arrested as Narcotic Chiefs

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Three alleged ringleaders of a narcotic ring whose activities, police declare, have extended the length of the coast, were arrested at 1340 Forty-seventh avenue by Inspector J. F. McCarthy of the state board of pharmacy and Police Detective Arthur Morrison.

They are Jack and Mary Ford and Mark Johnston. All are held at $1000 cash bail, with the two men charged with violation of the state poison law and vagrancy, and the woman with vagrancy.

It is declared by Inspector McCarthy that the trio have for several days been making narcotic deliveries to various leading hotels here.

At the instance of last night's raid, however, about $1000 worth of contraband narcotics were seized.

A feature of the arrest was the finding of a suit case in the Forty-seventh avenue house whose ownership was traced to former Senator James W. Phelan through a label it bore. This, according to a police record, was stolen from Phelan's automobile a few nights ago, and when discovered by the officers contained its owner's gun, dress suit and wallet containing various papers.

Crematory Near Hospital Irks

LONG BEACH, Jan. 16.—Declaring that a crematory located within 193 feet of the city hospital is a depressing sight for patients of the hospital to gaze on, citizens have circulated a petition asking that the city council remove the crematory.

The issue may have to be settled in court because the crematory was established before the site it now occupies came under city jurisdiction.

POWER COMPANY BUYS SITE AT SEAL BEACH

Plant to Be One of Largest in United States Is Claim of Agents

SEAL BEACH, Jan. 16.—The largest steam-driven electric generating station in the western United States, representing eventually an expenditure of from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000, will be built at Seal Beach by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric corporation, it was declared today in the first authentic announcement concerning the power station which has been the subject of widespread interest and much conjecture during the past several days.

Paying approximately $200,000 cash for eight acres at "Seal Point," on the east side of the Alamitos bay inlet, the Los Angeles corporation plans to construct a power station which ultimately will have a capacity of 288,000 horsepower, General Superintendent A. B. Day of the gas and electric company stated.

The plant, he said, is required to care for the rapidly increasing demand upon the corporation for electric service.

Construction work will be started immediately, according to Day's announcement.

Huge Building Program
The 1924 building program, he said, involves an investment of $3,500,000.

During 1924 it is proposed to erect sufficient housing capacity to accommodate two Westinghouse turbine units of 48,000 horsepower maximum capacity, one of which will be installed during this year.

It was estimated that the work of construction will employ from 300 to 500 men until the plant is completed.

Following the announcement by Mr. Day of the purchase of the property and the company's plan for improvements thereupon, Philip A. Stanton, president of the Bay-Side Land company, consented for the first time to discuss details of the deal.

"Our company agreed to this sale," he said, "because we are convinced the results will be highly beneficial to Seal Beach. The buildings will be of fine appearance, with marble and tile trim, and the plant will be absolutely unobjectionable from any standpoint. Flowers and lawns will be put in, and the general effect will be pleasing. This feature, you can realize, was of importance to me personally, for the site of the plant is close to my home."

"Moreover, the plant will bring a big payroll to Seal Beach and its employees will be men of a type that we will be glad to have added to our citizenship. Reports that we have disposed of our amusement holdings here have been unfounded."

Talbert
TALBERT, Jan. 16.—Mrs. Myrtle Letson has been absent from school since Wednesday while at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Joseph Culver, whose death occurred at an early hour Saturday morning.

The other teachers of the school have substituted for Mrs. Letson in her absence. The Culver family for two years were residents of Talbert, having lived on the Nimocks ranch, and deep regret over her death is felt by her many friends.

Pneumonia was the cause of her death.

Dr. Ruth Sanderson of Los Angeles came Wednesday to the Hiram Proctor home and will remain for a time to care for Mrs. Proctor and give her a course of treatments.

Mrs. Proctor, who has been ill since Christmas, is not improving and remains quite weak.

Mrs. Granville Bland called a doctor Friday night to attend her baby which was quite ill. An attack of the stomach was the trouble.

A special centenary missionary program is to be given on next Wednesday evening at the Talbert Methodist church, South. The main address of the evening will be delivered by Rev. B. L. Glazier of Santa Ana and R. L. O'Bar of Orange will also speak. Special prayer and song service will also be on the program. The regular Sunday morning and Sunday evening services will also deal with the Centenary cause. These special meetings are to be held generally in all the churches taking up the centenary pledge of five years ago and in many places an all-day centenary missionary program is planned for.

Mr. and Mrs. Billie Howardson of Long Beach were Thursday visitors at the S. E. Talbert home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shutt Jr. have both been ill. Mrs. Shutt first had influenza and was later quite ill following the extraction of a wisdom tooth. Shutt has also been confined at home due to complications, the result of extraction work done. Both are now recovering.

Mrs. G. M. Gardner has been on the sick list since Thursday.

Charles Ward has been on the sick list for a week with the prevailing epidemic and for five days was quite ill. He was improving at the last report.

Miss Gladys Gardner, youngest daughter of Rev. and Mrs. George M. Gardner of this place, arrived Thursday night to join the family here.

Miss Gardner has been attending the university in San Francisco where she took teachers' training and was later quite ill when her parents moved south in the fall. Miss Gardner spent a week or so visiting at different points after leaving San Francisco.

Stoop Shouldered? Frequent Beaches Urges Film Beauty

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 16.—Girls with round or slump shoulders should spend a great deal of their time at the beaches, clad in bathing suits, declared Alberta Vaughn, popular featured actress with Robertson-Cole in "The Telephone Girl" series, being filmed under the direction of Mai St. Clair.

"Modern clothes are so cleverly tailored that the fault of stooped shoulders may be hidden, therefore girls are careless in their postures," says Miss Vaughn. "But it is noticeable that when these same girls are at the beaches they make an effort to stand straight and to throw back their shoulders. If they visit the beach often enough the stoop will soon be eliminated. As a result, they will be more beautiful and more healthy, for allowing the shoulders to sag draws the lungs in and interferes with correct breathing."

B. Y. GOLFERS AT TUSTIN JUBILANT

TUSTIN, Jan. 16.—With the election of officers of the local horse shoe club scheduled for this Thursday night promoters today were trying to select equipment which has been brought here for trial and approval by the members.

The meeting of the "Tustin Recreation Club" as it has been dubbed will be held at either the K. of P. hall or at the O. A. Lehigh garage. At the meeting the articles of the club will be read and membership fees will be accepted.

Anyone 21 years old or over in good standing in the community may join the club. No Sunday playing is to be allowed on the club grounds it has been decided.

Men are at present practicing on their checkerboards with the view of also forming a checker team, which may perhaps invade Santa Ana and other communities.

Capistrano Folk Visit Oceanside

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Jan. 16.—The Tustin high school basketball team won from the Capistrano team Friday by one point. The score was eighteen to seventeen.

A party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey McClellan, Lella and Lina Rosenbaum, Elwin Martin, Etta Wallace, Marie Errecarte, Gladys Landell, Paul Yorba, Buddy Foster, George Perrie, Frank Conland, and Ralph Peters, attended the dance at the Moore hall in Oceanside Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey McClellan, Misses Etta Wallace, Lina Rosenbaum, Lella Rosenbaum and Dewey McClellan Jr., were guests at the Charles Wallace home in Oceanside Saturday and Sunday.

Sunday the party motored to Pala Indian Reservation and Palomar mountain. They rode several miles up the canyon past the Pala terminus mines, and found several old deserted cabins. They supposed that the cabins belonged, at some early date, to miners who were searching for other terminus mines, and had become discouraged and abandoned them.

An old 1903 calendar was found in one of the huts, while in others, nearer Pala, were found newspapers dating as late as 1919 and 1920.

The party visited the Gem mines on their way home, and ate their lunch there.

Mr. Boden of the Boden studio in Santa Ana came down to the Capistrano high school Tuesday morning and took the group picture for the Annual. The seniors have chosen "Mission Chimes" as the name for their annual.

been ill during the week. Mrs. Burley and Mrs. Gero were taken ill first and just as their condition was improving Wednesday Mr. Burley took to his bed.

Little Verna Shaffer, two-year-old daughter of Mrs. Elva Shaffer of Fountain Valley, died last night after having been ill with influenza since New Year's, is convalescing. Her condition was quite serious for three days.

Mrs. Eugene Barbee was taken suddenly ill Tuesday with influenza. A physician was called and her husband motored to Belleflower that night after her mother, who is now with her.

Mrs. Hiram Proctor, who has been ill since Christmas time, was improved at the last report. Several of the neighbors have been assisting in her care.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Breeding and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cline.

Opal Cline is able to get about but little as the result of a sprained ankle. She is not sure when the injury occurred but it is thought she turned it while playing. Opal had just recovered from a spell of pneumonia when laid up for the second time.

William Cozina has purchased a late model Ford car and he and his sister, Miss Bridget Cozina, and brother, John Cozina, and wife returned Tuesday from San Diego, to which city they drove the car on a trial trip. The party motored down Friday and enjoyed their stay greatly.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaver who for

"GOOFS" TO BE INVITED INTO BOX CAR BRANCH OF AMERICAN LEGION AT BEACH; 'WRECKING CREW' HAS DEEP LAID PLANS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 16.—Members of La Societe de 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, the playground order of the American Legion, will hold their regular meeting and promenade here tonight, according to word given out by L. E. Mitchell, one of the local members.

According to Mitchell there are a number of "goofs" to be promaded at the meeting tonight.

Franklin Ground of Santa Ana will be in charge of the "wrecking crew" and has laid many plans to make the evening entertaining to the members as well as to the "goofs."

One of the features of the evening will be a parade down the main street of the city with the "goofs" in promenade costume leading the procession and followed by about 100 of the playground order.

Local members have arranged to give the Societe one of the best times they have enjoyed for some time. A large number of county Legionnaires will be present at the meeting.

ORANGE VOTERS O.K. $40,000 IN BONDS

ORANGE, Jan. 16.—By a vote of 391 to 76 the citizens of Orange yesterday approved the issuance of $40,000 in bonds to improve and add equipment to the present water system.

With the money the city trustees hope to purchase two new pumps, one new engine, install a 1,000-gallon reservoir, purchase 10,000 feet of new main and put in twelve fire hydrants.

It is expected that the improvements will be made this spring.

Although the majority was one of the largest ever given a bond vote in Orange city hall attaches declared that the voting was relatively light.

Wintersburg-Smeltzer

WINTERSBURG & SMELTZER, Jan. 16.—Rev. J. Scott Willmarth, spent from Tuesday over Thursday in Los Angeles where he attended the Pacific Southwest Theological conference in session in that city this week. Six denominations are back of this unionizing movement and splendid speakers contributed daily to the programs.

Professor of Yale university and president of the Chicago university were among the notables whom Rev. Mr. Willmarth heard speak.

Marie McMillan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McMillan, was accidentally struck in the forehead by a bat in the hands of a playmate at the Oceanview school Thursday. The girl and her playmate were in the schoolyard when the bat was thrown.

ANAHEIM MAN TO Be Secretary to Improvement Dist

ANAHEIM, Jan. 16.—Malcolm Fraser, for three years manager of the California Valencia Orange show here, has resigned his position as manager of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses to become secretary of the West Seventh Street Improvement association in Los Angeles, it was learned today.

Fraser stated that he was leaving his Pasadena position, for which he signed a five months contract in the autumn before he expected to be in order to give his attention at once to the Los Angeles project.

1924 OFFICERS ANNOUNCED BY YACHT CLUB

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 16.—Admiral Albert Solland, probably the most prominent yachtsman on the coast, has been named publicity chairman of the Newport Harbor Yacht club for the coming year.

Commodore W. Starbuck Penton announced the new list of club officers and committee chairmen. The list is tentative, the yachtsmen not yet having accepted the positions.

The new fleet captain is P. H. L. Wilson. Port captain will be Capt. Cecil K. Sherman. Dr. Leon J. Roth will be fleet surgeon. Claude Putnam is chairman of the regatta committee. Other chairmen: W. H. Burnham, house committee; George E. Vibert, entertainment; W. M. Cummings, courtesy; Joseph A. Beek, library and Shirley M. Meserve, mooring committee.

Plans for the greatest racing season in the history of the club are being made. Several new racing crafts are to be obtained, and a program of frequent racing dates is to be made up. Improvements and additions to the clubhouse are contemplated by the board of directors, according to word from Newport.

Plan Improvement At Beach Plunge

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 16.—New motors are being installed on the circulating pumps and on the filter at the local plunge which is closed until Friday morning.

The motors, which had been in use for some time, were deemed inefficient to do the work. The filter constantly changes the water in the plunge at the rate of nearly 400 gallons per minute.

While the engines are being installed the plunge has been thoroughly cleaned and treated to disinfectant applications in preparation for the coming months, which will be held every Saturday night.

Arrangements are being made by Jack Kilburn, instructor at the plunge to set the date for the A. U. meet which is to be held here in February. The meet is to be held on either the first or second Friday of the month, it is claimed.

S. F. Forbidden to Ship Mexico Arms

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Shipment of arms or munitions from San Francisco to Mexico is forbidden under orders received from Washington by W. B. Hamilton, collector of customs. Nothing in the way of war material may be sent unless special permission is secured from the state department.

Child Fire Victim Dies at Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Alice Klotz, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Klotz, 231 Vienna street, who was pinned beneath burning timbers with her mother, when the roof of their home caved in a few days ago, died at the San Francisco hospital. The little girl was sleeping in the bedroom, when flames weakened the roof. When her mother attempted to rescue her, both were overcome and trapped by the fire. Mrs. Klotz and the child were dragged from the room by neighbors. The mother was slightly injured.

Fund Shortage to Delay S. F. Project

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—City Auditor Thomas I. Boyle announced today that he had up valuation of the $1,250,000 contract awarded several weeks ago by the board of supervisors for the construction of Dumbarton straits aqueduct of the Hetch Hetchy project because of lack of money in the water construction fund, bond issue of 1910.

Although there remains more than $5,000,000 in unsold water bonds, there is but $784,149 in cash to carry on the water project. Supervisor Angelo Rossi, member of the supervisors' finance committee, declared that the unsold bonds will be placed on the market within a few weeks in order that the Hetch Hetchy company may not be hindered in carrying out the $1,250,000 project.

4 Men Held For Robbery Attempt

S. A. DOCTOR IS ARRESTED BY MOTOR COP

Physician on Emergency Call Claims Rough Treatment in Fullerton

FULLERTON, Jan. 16.—Interesting developments, with the possibility that the case may be carried to a higher court, are expected to result from the trial here before Justice of the Peace J. B. French of Dr. J. M. Bulpitt, 124 Buffalo street, Santa Ana. Dr. Bulpitt is accused by Motorcycle Officer, Rudy of traveling at an excessive speed, disorderly conduct, reckless driving, practicing in the city of Fullerton without a license.

Dr. Bulpitt said today he had been called by the nurse at the home of Clarence Hertler, East Commonwealth, who said her patient had a temperature of 105 degrees.

"Going to Show Him" Claim
As he turned east on Commonwealth, he said Officer Rudy stopped him, saying "I'll show you whether you can go through Fullerton like this."

"I am afraid," Dr. Bulpitt claimed he told Rudy, "that you are making a mistake. I am a Santa Ana physician on an emergency call."

"I don't care who you are," Bulpitt said Rudy answered.

Dr. Bulpitt said he explained to Rudy that a very sick man was calling him.

"I don't care who he is!" the doctor says the traffic officer replied. Bulpitt said that Rudy then demanded his operator's license, checked up on his lights and gave him a ticket to appear in court.

As the doctor was returning home he said he approached Rudy in an effort to talk more with him about the case and that Rudy again claimed he was going 45 miles an hour. The doctor claimed that he knew he was not traveling that fast as his car would only go 40 miles an hour.

The doctor said that the motor cop then threw him into his machine. Bulpitt claimed that Rudy would not let him go and lock his car which contained his medical bag in which there was a quantity of narcotics. Bulpitt claimed to-day that the Officer told him that as far as he was concerned he didn't care if Bulpitt had just left a gold mine, he couldn't go back to it. His membership card in the Automobile Club of Southern California was rejected for bond, the doctor said, and he had to get a fellow physician to post cash for him.

The Santa Ana doctor said that under the provisions of section 120 of the motor vehicle law doctors, firemen and policemen are allowed to exceed the speed limits but that Rudy claimed that doctors are granted no special privileges by the state laws.

The automobile club will appear and fight the case for him, Bulpitt said.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation.

It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your fingertips. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. 35c and 65c. In jars and tubes.

SAN FRANCISCO IN MINIATURE BEING BUILT

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—San Francisco is now under construction in the miniature of California that is being done by the California Development Association at a cost of $100,000.

Work on the building of this city, showing such famous places as the Civic Center, the Mission Dolores, the Ferry building, the Standard Oil building, Golden Gate Park, the Cliff House, the Presidio and scores of other places, started last week.

Each of these places will be shown in detail. Trees in the Golden Gate Park will be located, as will the bandstand, the lakes, stadium, M. H. de Young Memorial Museum and other places of interest. At night the buildings will be illuminated by miniature incandescent bulbs.

Proportions Are Large
The miniature of California is 600 feet in length, eighteen feet in width, and is dioramic, panoramic and myramic. It is built of magnesite instead of plaster paris, the former being indestructible and cannot be marred except by tremendous force. Trees are built of sponge.

Work on this panorama of the State started three months ago and will be completed during the summer months. The construction is being done under the supervision of J. T. Edwards, an artist who designed the famed exhibit that appeared in the Canadian building during the 1915 World's Fair here.

Although it is being constructed at the original Mack Sennett studio at Glendale, due to that being the only place available in the State of sufficient size to house the immense exhibit during construction, it will be placed in the nave of the Ferry building when completed.

Every Detail Shown
Every detail, even to the locating of the tracks in the mountainous countries for logging railroads, is being constructed, and miniature trains are to be found at various sections in the State. The paved highways will be distinguished from unpaved ones, ships will be shown entering, leaving and docked at the principal ports; orange groves will be differentiated from lemon groves and apple orchards; alfalfa fields will be distinguished from wheat fields, and redwood trees will be differentiated from the pines.

DAYS OPEN BIG BOOZE PARLEY IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The part to be played by the Anti-Saloon League in the coming congressional elections and plans for combating wet moves in the present congress will be decided on at the league's twenty-first annual convention, which convened here today.

Meeting in the First Congressional Church, where the Anti-Saloon League worships, the league also will agree upon methods for completing the elimination of lawless liquor traffic throughout the country and enter into a general discussion of law enforcement and world prohibition.

An observance of the fourth anniversary of the day when national prohibition became effective, Jan. 16, will climax the convention. The principal speakers at that meeting will be Wm. J. Bryan and Governor Gifford Pinchot, Pennsylvania.

Speakers announced for the convention include three of the joint presidents of the World League Against Alcohol—Dr. Robert Redford, Lausanne, Switzerland, director of the International Temperance Bureau; Miss Anna A. Gordon, president of the National and World's W. C. T. U., and Dr. Howard H. Russell, association general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America.

Other speakers scheduled are: Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes; P. A. Baker, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League; Senators Pepper, Pennsylvania; Jones, Washington; Ferris, Michigan; Sterling, South Dakota; Willis and Fess, Ohio; Sheppard, Texas; Dial, South Carolina; Congressmen Temple, Pennsylvania; Cranton, Michigan; Raker, California; Lister Hill, Alabama; Governor Patrick J. Neff, Texas; U. S. District Attorney Hayward of New York; Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney General of the U. S.; Fred B. Smith, New York, secretary of the Federal Council of Churches; C. B. Griffith, Attorney General, Kansas; William Tyler Page, Clerk, U. S. House of Representatives and author of the American Creed.

Charge Cafeteria Owner with Fraud

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Two warrants charging B. A. Waters, manager of a Market street cafeteria, with operating an employment bureau without a permit were issued by Police Judge Jacks. The complainants were Mrs. Alice White of Pleasanton, who charges that she gave Waters $500 on a promise of steady work in the cafeteria, and that she was discharged in eight days; and D. E. Osigan, coffee maker of 77 Fourth street, who alleges that he gave Waters a like amount on guarantee of permanent employment and was given no work at all. Harry Gorman, deputy labor commissioner, is investigating the case.

INDIANAN TELLS POLICE HIS WIFE, DAUGHTER ARE IN S. A. AFTER 1918 DISAPPEARANCE

Accuses 'Another Man' of Luring Pair From Home In Mystery Case

After searching for more than six years for his wife and daughter and after following many trails, only to have them end in failure, W. R. Wright, Muncie, Ind., has followed a clue that leads to Santa Ana where he believes the pair, and the man whom he accuses of having broken up his home, are living, according to the Santa Ana police today.

A letter was received by the police from Wright in which he asked the police to aid him in locating Adah Wright, his asserted wife, and a daughter, Violet. The letter from the husband said both disappeared mysteriously.

For several years Wright searched for the pair without finding a trace of their whereabouts, but recently he received information directing his search to this city, he wrote.

According to information in his possession, Wright added, his wife was induced to leave him by a man living in Santa Ana. The name of the man is unknown to Wright.

Santa Ana police were asked to locate the missing woman and child, as well secure the name under which the woman is living, if in this city, and to learn the identity of the man said to have lured her from her home in Muncie, Ind. Wright did not divulge, in his letter, what his future plans were in the event they are located.

$150,000,000 From Tourists. Is View

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—Southern California will be enriched by at least $150,000,000 in 1924 by tourists, according to C. G. Milham, executive secretary of the All-Year club.

This will be an increase of $15,000,000 over the 1923 returns, it has been estimated.

Milham bases his predictions on statistics which show that fully 1,350,000 people visited this region in 1923 and that they spent an average of $100 each.

While the predicted increase is only 10 per cent a 25 per cent increase in passenger traffic is predicted by the transcontinental railroads.

Fear Three Dead In Engine Blast

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 16.—James Bennett, engineer, was killed, two trainmen disappeared and another was injured when the locomotive of Gulf Coast lines freight train No. 31 exploded near Grayburg early today. Six cars left the tracks following the explosion. Workmen searched the ruins for the missing trainmen.

Mrs. W. R. (Adah) Wright, whose asserted husband in Muncie, Ind., is seeking her in Santa Ana, after she is said to have been missing six years, police declare.

AMERICAN IS NAMED TO ADMINISTER FUND

GENEVA, Jan. 16.—Henry Morgenthau, former ambassador to Turkey, has been named by the league of nations to administer an international loan of from $15,000,000 to $30,000,000 dollars to be floated by the Greek government, with the assistance of the league. This money will be used by the Morgenthau commission to settle Greece's army of more than a million refugees on a million and a quarter acres of land provided by the Greek government. All American relief agencies have withdrawn from adult refugee work in Greece, the Near East Relief having concentrated on orphanage work.

WIDOW DAMAGE CASE VERDICT DUE TODAY

With the defense expected to rest its case sometime during the morning session in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court here, a verdict in the case of Mrs. Emma Blackford against E. L. Beckwith, involving a claim for approximately $16,000 damages, was regarded as likely to be found late today.

Mrs. Blackford, formerly of Fullerton and now a resident of Corona, sued Beckwith, a Downey resident, on account of the death of her husband, Lewis Blackford, who suffered a fractured skull when his motorcycle collided with Beckwith's car, near Peralta, in Santa Ana canyon, February 21, 1923.

An attempt by Defense Counsel A. E. Koepsel late yesterday to introduce testimony of previous asserted reckless driving on the part of the deceased brought a temporary delay in the trial, when Judge Williams, upon objection of counsel for Mrs. Blackford, took his ruling on the point of law under advisement until today.

Beckwith, testifying in his own defense yesterday, admitted that his car was on the left-hand side of the boulevard when the collision with the motorcycle took place. Beckwith said, however, that his car had come to a complete stop and was struck by the motorcycle. He said that he had started to pass around another machine when he saw the motorcycle approaching and stopped his car.

Arguments by counsel were expected to be delivered at the morning session.

Parents Excused In Death of Two

STOCKTON, Jan. 16.—After an investigation of the fire which caused two small children to perish behind doors locked by the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Werts, while they attended a theater, Deputy Sheriff Walter Owens declared there was no evidence produced by which any legal action could be taken.

The investigation, authorities said, served to hold the parents blameless and the origin of the fire remains a mystery. The mother is distracted from grief and is in a serious condition, according to physicians. When the parents left the house, about 6:45, there was a small fire burning in the wood stove, but, they said, this was not large enough to cause the blaze which destroyed the house. The alarm was noted at 7:12 p. m. Werts is the stepfather of the children.

S. F. Shipping in Gain in December

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Shipping to and from San Francisco harbor increased substantially within a year, according to comparison of figures showing arrivals and departures during the months of December, last, and those of a year ago.

Fifty-three more ships passed in and out of the Golden Gate this last December than did in December, 1922. This increase brought the total tonnage entering and leaving the harbor to 2,351,758 tons in both steam and sail for the last December.

The tonnage last month in departures totaled 1,178,376 in steam and 1452 in sail.

EXPERIENCES OF TEACHER IN CHINA

Orange Faculty Member Is Tustin H. S. Speaker;
Sings Love Song

By FLORENCE BOOSEY
TUSTIN HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 16.—China, amusing as well as romantic, ridiculous as well as mysterious, was the subject of Mr. Sutherland's speech last Thursday, Jan. 10, one of the most enthusiastically received talks yet heard at the weekly speech period at Tustin high school. Mr. Sutherland is a member of the faculty of Orange high school, but he has spent several years as head of a Chinese government school, which served as a source of a great deal of amusing information.

Only White Man in Town
The school in which Mr. Sutherland taught was in the city of Wuchang on the Yangtze River, and was located at such a distance inland that its inhabitants had not been influenced by foreign customs as had the large port cities such as Peking, Hong Kong, and Shanghai. In fact Mr. Sutherland was practically the only white inhabitant in Wuchang, a city about the size of Los Angeles. When he arrived in Wuchang Mr. Sutherland was surprised and not exactly pleased to learn that he was expected to make a six hour speech in greeting his future students. His pleasure was not heightened when he learned that his pupils-to-be did not understand English, and he knew but one or two words of the Chinese language.

However, he went to school resolved to do his duty. The building itself was an ancient structure which had been standing for 500 years, a very noble institution, but its state of sanitation was not equal to the cause for which it had been devoted, not having been cleaned for two centuries. Mr. Sutherland objected to the filth which had passed unnoticed by Chinese eyes, and declared that he would not make his speech until things were cleaned up. Next day, therefore, a gang of coolies with picks and shovels entered, and after much scooping found the floor at a depth of five feet. The day following, the speech was delivered. The pupils were all boys, and the Chinese consider it a waste of time to educate the girls, and all were sons of the upper class. In his greeting Mr. Sutherland repeated the same thing time after time, and though the time limit set for him was six hours, he spoke only an hour and a half which made it easier for both himself and the students, particularly as the latter did not understand what he was saying.

Fingernails Index to Character
The badge of all gentlemen in China is their fingernails, the longer the nails, the more genteel the gentleman. Consequently, among Mr. Sutherland's students long fingernails were in evidence, the governor's son holding the record with none less than eight and one eleven inches. The nails were protected by bamboo guards tied on each finger. To have short fingernails was to be suspected of work, a disgrace to any gentleman. As might be expected, a teacher would have some little difficulty in getting these students to write compositions; but, after much urging on his part, Mr. Sutherland prevailed upon them to have their nails cut for their intellectual, if not social, benefit.

In a group of growing boys it cannot be all work and no play, and the Chinese were not without their amusements. One of their outdoor sports was played in the following manner: In the afternoon, when they were weary of study, each boy had a servant who would come with a bird cage and be followed by his master to a place perhaps a block from the school. Then all the boys would be in a circle, their birds placed in front of them, and listen to the music that poured forth from the throats of the warblers. After an hour or two of this exertion the boys would follow their servants home, having spent a very hilarious afternoon of field sport.

"Kind Sir, I am Uncomfortable"
Since he was practically the only foreigner of consequence in the city, Mr. Sutherland attended many formal dinners at which he was accorded the place of honor near the host. To reach his place, each guest must begin at the foot and work up, sitting about five minutes at each place, and protesting that he is comfortable and satisfied, he must finally succumb to the urging of his host and move one place nearer the seat destined for him. The seating alone at a dinner, where there is a company of eight, requires an hour, and a whole dinner about eight hours. During the meal the guests may walk about and talk with friends. Immediately after the dinner is over the guests are expected to depart, but not until the host has told them to go.

The meal itself begins with desserts of which there are about fifteen courses. At a very formal affair, lotus buds, the only food not eaten with chop sticks, are served at about the middle of the meal and indicate that there are twenty courses to follow. Although the Chinese do not have beef as a food they certainly know how to cook pork, of which they serve fifteen courses at a formal dinner.

The Chinese language is one of the most difficult in the world and

Breezy Articles For Next Week; Fun Predominates

For lack of space several interesting contributions meant for this issue of the Junior Register were omitted and will be run next week. These included a humorous story, "Only a Furnace Boy," by Horace Butler of Tustin and an article on "Radio Manners" by Luella Whiteacre of Garden Grove. Both of these stories are well written and will cause many a genuine chuckle next week. Edith B. Alton, girl's coach at Garden Grove, has written an interesting article on her basketball team which is to appear in the final. That story will appear next week as will several others crowded out.

FULLERTON HAS COMPOSER OF COMIC OPERA

By LILLIAN TROWBRIDGE
FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 16.—Students of the Fullerton high school, can now boast of one member of their faculty who is a composer of operas, for last year during her leave of absence, Miss Helen Wishard, the popular head of the music department of the school, completed "Princess Jocund Jr.," a comic opera of two acts.

Dates Are Announced
Fullerton people will have the opportunity of seeing its premier presentation for it is to be offered on the evenings of February 22 and 23, as the annual production of the combined boys and girls glee clubs.

Members of the cast have been selected and they are already learning their parts. All of the girls to participate are members of the first glee club, although members of both first and second clubs will sing in the choruses. Since the king's court is to be the scene of much of the action, one can imagine how very elaborate and beautiful the settings will be. They are being made in the Manual Training department. The costumes will be lovely, and very colorful for the characters will all appear in royal robes.

Here Is Cast
Those who will play prominent roles are: Norma Lovering, as Mary; Alice Parks as Jewel; Catherine Gurley as Mrs. Brown; Josephine Taylor as Annabel; Alice Corcoran as Charabel; Arthur Harrison as the prince; Ernest Hartz as the jester; Bob Dowling as the king; Billy Swain as the captain; Arnold Quigley as Tompkins, and Allan Robertson, George Forster and Marvin Webb as guards.

The foreigner who is learning makes many unpleasant mistakes. There are very few words in their vocabulary, but there are five different tones and each tone has a different meaning. For instance, a word which, spoken in one tone, was Mr. Sutherland's name, in another tone meant large, in a third, a disgrace to any gentleman. As might be expected, a teacher would have some little difficulty in getting these students to write compositions; but, after much urging on his part, Mr. Sutherland prevailed upon them to have their nails cut for their intellectual, if not social, benefit.

In a group of growing boys it cannot be all work and no play, and the Chinese were not without their amusements. One of their outdoor sports was played in the following manner: In the afternoon, when they were weary of study, each boy had a servant who would come with a bird cage and be followed by his master to a place perhaps a block from the school. Then all the boys would be in a circle, their birds placed in front of them, and listen to the music that poured forth from the throats of the warblers. After an hour or two of this exertion the boys would follow their servants home, having spent a very hilarious afternoon of field sport.

"Kind Sir, I am Uncomfortable"
Since he was practically the only foreigner of consequence in the city, Mr. Sutherland attended many formal dinners at which he was accorded the place of honor near the host. To reach his place, each guest must begin at the foot and work up, sitting about five minutes at each place, and protesting that he is comfortable and satisfied, he must finally succumb to the urging of his host and move one place nearer the seat destined for him. The seating alone at a dinner, where there is a company of eight, requires an hour, and a whole dinner about eight hours. During the meal the guests may walk about and talk with friends. Immediately after the dinner is over the guests are expected to depart, but not until the host has told them to go.

The meal itself begins with desserts of which there are about fifteen courses. At a very formal affair, lotus buds, the only food not eaten with chop sticks, are served at about the middle of the meal and indicate that there are twenty courses to follow. Although the Chinese do not have beef as a food they certainly know how to cook pork, of which they serve fifteen courses at a formal dinner.

The Chinese are the best cooks in the world," reported Mr. Sutherland, "if you overlook the fact that nothing is clean."

JOURNALISM IN MANY SCHOOLS IS SKETCHED

Newspaper Writing and Art of Printing Is Given Better Recognition

By CHARLES H. CAMP
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 16.—In view of the fact that the Southern California Press association has never before seen fit to meet at any school outside of Los Angeles city, Orange county should be proud of the fact that this meeting is to be held at Anaheim in the near future. Journalism is an important phase of high school work, as will be attested by the following notes on Southern California high schools and also by the fact that the Los Angeles Herald has seen fit to start a high school edition of Mr. Frederick Schindler. The idea was gained from a Chicago newspaper and resembles the Santa Ana Junior Register.

Glendale High School
Glendale high is interested in the advertising problem of its annual and school paper. School clubs and organizations pay for advertising space, just as the townspeople do in the town paper.

Riverside High School
Riverside merchants attend ball games enthusiastically and advertise well in the school paper, The Spotlight. Two hundred and forty dollars were made in advertising last year. The paper of six columns, having four pages, issued once a week, affords advertising space amounting to approximately one hundred and fifty columns a year. Plays and entertainments are a source of money raising for the Riverside annual.

Hollywood High School
Hollywood high is struggling with the correlation of journalism and printing departments. They take it, that the aim of journalism is to teach students how to write, not how to print, therefore the two staffs try to keep the printing department from overstepping its bounds.

Pasadena High School
Pasadena high has the same difficulty in the tendency of the printing department to overrun journalism. To minimize this effect, both departments are organized under one head. The Pasadena school paper carries no advertising as the main trouble met by the printing department is the heavy demand made on the school press for outside work.

L. A. Manual Arts
Mr. Wilson, principal of Manual Arts high, Los Angeles, spoke of the early struggle in school journalism, in his school when self-government was first put into operation. To avoid troubles in the future, through lack of discretion shown by certain staff members, a news censorship composed of students and one faculty member was established. The print shop is authorized to check up last minute news or news which may slip through without being checked.

HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 16.—Students of the Huntington Beach high school enjoyed an interesting program in assembly, Friday, January 11, given by the Santa Ana Junior College.

Raymond Vandruft announced the various numbers which were as follows:
Piano solo by Mr. Anderson.
Violin solo by Jack Langley.
Tricks—Mr. Nelson and Mr. Clark.

Interpretation of an old piano play—Louise Ward.
"Hardy Perennials," a one-act play—Mildred Moore, Ida Grizet, George Morton, Ruth Langley, Carl Opp.

At the close of the program Mr. Morton told the students about Junior College's activities, equipment, courses, and faculty. He also told of the active part taken by Huntington's alumni, who are enrolled in college.

The students wish to thank the Junior College for the program and only hope that they will keep the good work up and come again.

Beach Students
To Offer Plays

By BETTY HAZELTON
HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 16.—The advanced dramatics class, under the direction of Miss Anna Doyle, will present two one-act plays, Thursday, January 17, for the regular weekly assembly.

"Riders to the Sea," a tragedy by J. M. Synge will be the first of its type put on at the high school. The cast is as follows:
Mauria, Betty Hazelton, Bartley, Allison Kemper, Cathleen, Edna Hearn, Ruth Walker, An old man, Robert Vidal.

"Neighbors," a charming play by Zena Gale, will be a decided contrast.
Grandma, Helen Gleane; Miss' Diantha Abel, Irene Crilly; Ezra Williams, Milton Nash; Peter, David Jones; Inez, Kathryn Olson; Miss' Elmina Moran, Bernice Newland; Miss' Trot, Fern Kuhry; Miss' Cary Ellsworth, Ruth Walker.

The casts have been rehearsing all week, and the performance promises to be worth while.

Perfumes first were employed only in religious services.

Anaheim Student Writers

Here is the Anaheim union high school student writers and printers who are arranging the program for the spring meeting of the Southern California High School Press association. They are shown in the rear of The Register building just after they had inspected the plant.

TO THE JOURNALISM INSTRUCTORS, EDITORS AND STAFF MEMBERS OF ORANGE COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL PAPERS, GREETINGS!

The staff of the "Anoranco" invites you to meet with them at the Anaheim high school, room forty-one, the afternoon of January 25, at 1:30 p. m.

The purpose of the meeting will be to organize the Orange County High School Press association. The many benefits to be derived from such an association are quite evident. Let's put it over big!

Yours truly,
THE ANORANCO STAFF

Fullerton Radio Program Arranged

By LILLIAN TROWBRIDGE
FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 16.—Many of us do not realize that in our midst there are young people who probably have great careers before them. But older and wiser folks are more appreciative of talent than we students, so on Thursday evening they have made arrangements for a radio concert to be broadcast from KFAW, The Register radio in Santa Ana. This will consist of musical numbers by Fullerton students and alumni.

Dr. George L. McClelland and Ted Corcoran (Ted was student body president in 1920) planned it all. It includes piano solos by Alla Bollen, who will also accompany several of the others. Bob Goodwin will sing, accompanied by Dolly Fitzsimmons, Norma Lovering will give three dramatic solos, accompanied by Alla Bollen. Ronald Collis will play the violin, and Ted Corcoran who is one of the most popular of Fullerton musicians, will play the xylophone, accompanied by Alice Corcoran.

The students are anticipating the visit to the station, and music lovers who plan to listen in, are sure that the girls and fellows will bring more honor to Fullerton High School.

Practically all of the team are new to their positions or else have been changed to some other position. Mae Requa, who played guard last year, has been changed from that position to the one of jumping center. Grace Holdsworth and Florence Findlay, who played team last year have that position on the first team. Rosie Labourdet, also a member of the "Skeeter" team last year, plays forward on the first team. "Ted" Bemish, who plays guard on the team, is a new member coming from Indiana. Lydia Mohr is the only a freshman, but has made the team as forward. Madeline Tousseau is playing her first year on any team. Irma Young, who played guard last year, alternates at jumping and running center, and guard.

FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 16.—Moving picture shows are being given of great value in education, and now many high schools are installing moving picture machines. Fullerton has instituted a regular schedule of pictures to be shown during the year. These cover almost every course given in school. On Thursdays the United States history classes are given Pathe News and Reviews.

Moving pictures are found to be a very practical agent in imparting to the student in an interesting way, things that would otherwise be considered "dry."

Cotton Mather of
S. A. Interviewed

By DON PARK.
TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 16.—Interested in the accomplishments of Cotton Mather, colonial student and clergyman, Miss Macomber's second year English classes, which are studying American Literature, sent a delegate to interview Mr. Cotton Mather of the Santa Ana Building and Loan company.

"Yes," said Mr. Mather, "I am considered a direct descendant of the famous Cotton Mather, but I don't know whether I am a 'chip off the old block or not.'"

The main character, Grumpy, centers around a lovable old man, with a very irritable and hasty temper. The plot has to do with the stealing of a very valuable diamond which is being taken from the Kimberly diamond fields to London. The developing of the play puts more emphasis upon character than plot.

By REVA AZLIN
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 16.—Two faculty members apparently discovered a diamond ring in each of their Christmas stockings. At any rate Miss Scott returned with a sparkle, announcing her engagement to Homer Anderson of Alhambra, and Miss Crist, her engagement to Mr. Glen Fitzwazgin of Berkeley.

Perhaps Old Santa was not entirely responsible. Remember, girls, it is 1924!

Orange Students Taking Part in Religious Work

BY BERTHA FRENCH
ORANGE, Jan. 16.—A number of the students of the Orange Union High school and members of the faculty are taking active part in the church work of this community. Fifty per cent of the teachers work in some of the churches of Orange.

The Hy-Y Club, composed of the older high school boys, have been taking charge of the Sunday evening services in some of the churches. Three weeks ago they led the services at the Christian church. Several of the boys of the club took an active part in the meeting, which was enjoyed by everyone.

Last Sunday night the services at the Presbyterian church were under the auspices of the boys' Hy-Y club. Frank Watson, Kellar Watson, Arthur Bivens, and Ralph Watson made short and interesting talks on "Prayer." Mr. Toothaker, who is the leader of the boys and a teacher in the high school, also spoke on the same subject.

ELABORATE PLANS FOR ANNUAL AT FULLERTON
BY CHARLOTTE MONTAGUE
FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 16.—Elaborate plans for the 1924 issue of the annual, Pleiades, are being made by the editor-in-chief, Sallie Kinsman, associate editor, Charlotte Montague and Mrs. Myrtle Steukle, faculty advisor. Many surprises are in store for all who purchase an annual. The staff is earnestly striving to make this the best publication ever put out in F. U. H. S. Much of the art work that is to decorate the pages and titles has been completed. Through the efforts of the photography editor, Margaret Howard, the year-book will be made a virtual picture book. Ben Blanchard, business manager, and his assistants are trying to make the annual a financial success. Many surprises are being prepared for the jokes, snaps and calendar sections. All in all this year's annual promises to be one of which the students will be proud.

Basketball's Aim Is Healthy Sport

BY CARL WIESE.
TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 16.—Basketball is one of the comparatively few games which have not descended from the dust of antiquity. Its origin was not accidental but the result of hard study on the part of a man sufficiently interested in boys to take time to provide for their pleasure.

As it stands today, basketball is one of the best sports, yet it does not command the place it should rightfully hold. Why is it? The reason is this, it is not a game for the spectator but rather for the development of the players. It teaches them manliness and honesty, the secret of team work, and, above all, to play "the game square."

FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 16.—The subscription campaign for the second semester for the Weekly Pleiades started Friday, January 10. The weekly staff had charge of the assembly on Friday and then staged its campaign.

Entertainers from Southern Branch University of California had promised to give us an entertaining one-act play and high class jazz. Owing to some difficulty in reaching Fullerton, the party did not get here until very late. As a result assembly lasted two whole hours.

The subscription campaign was worked out on a novel plan. Adrian Marks being the originator of it. One thousand cards containing the form of a note had been printed and were given to each student. The student did not have to have fifty cents. The price of the subscription was the time of signing the note before the end of school and if not having done so by that time, the money for the subscription will be taken out of their book deposit money. During this week some one will be in the study hall so that each student may redeem his note if he cannot do so by the time of signing the note.

The following Sunday found one "Andy" carrying a trap and a box on his shoulder up the railroad iron over his shoulder up the canyon. Searching for a place to set his trap, he noticed there was a log which Mr. Bear had to step over when he came into the apary. There the trap was set.

The next Sunday, two very excited men followed Andy's trail. They found the old bear, dead, near the log, and on the spot was the death-place of the last grizzly killed in Orange county.

Presidential Possibility and Family

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN
NEA Service Writer.

MILFORD, Pa., Jan. 16.—Gifford Pinchot, governor of Pennsylvania and one of the foremost of presidential possibilities, is great at fishing.

He is as adept at deep-sea fishing as he is skilled in making a cast in the woodland streams. But he knows that there is often many a slip between the nibble and the catch.

Perhaps that is why he is the one man in these parts who says he is not casting around for the nomination.

Yet there is a strong sentiment throughout the state, and the whole east, that he will be in the running. It hasn't yet crystallized itself in the formation of "Pinchot-for-President" clubs or any organized attempt to win pledges from delegates to the nominating convention. But it is gaining momentum.

Should this be great enough to help the governor swing the state election this spring when a new legislature will be chosen, political leaders believe Pinchot will be forced to throw his hat in the ring.

Set for Coming Battle.
Just now the governor is priming himself for a hard campaign. The political machine he broke up in his sensational victory of 1922 will make a strong oppositional effort to come back.

Before this defeat, the old Republican regime, directed by Boies Penrose and his followers, was one of the strongest organizations in the country. It was deemed revolutionary for an independent to try bucking it.

Pinchot did just that, and successfully, too, by going directly before the people and presenting his views himself.

That's what he is going to do in the spring campaign, too. And that's what he will do if he decides to get into the running for the presidency.

He makes his own fights, and fights them himself. There is no organization that carries on for him.

"A fisherman," he says, "must land his own catch." And Pinchot is a fisherman above everything else.

To get a close-up of this "Izaak Walton" governor-presidential possibility, I spent a day with him at his home in the northern Pennsylvania hills.

He lives in Grey Towers, on a large estate. It easily could be one of the show places of the east, if it were tricked up with ornate trimmings. But the Pinchots don't go in for this sort of thing. So their beautiful home stands in a bit of nature's woodland with little ostentation, but plenty of charm. It is a large lodge-like house, holding a large living room where a cozy fireplace of burning logs, often chopped by the governor, blazes merrily away.

Lives Simple Life.

The family eats in this room, too, waited on by a major domo about the place who acts as butler, cook and man of all work. He wears no livery, and is dressed even better than the governor himself.

Pinchot's favorite room is his study. It is a small place stuck away in a corner of the house. Its wall paper is old. Its walls are lined with fishing rods and reels. Its desk is filled with tackle.

A magazine of short adventure stories lay atop a stack of papers. The governor smiled as he showed us around.

"This is the best room in the whole house," he said, confidentially. "And here's the best thing in it."

He pulled out a fishing rod. "It weighs only 2-3 ounces," he explained. "But it sure can hold the fish."

Roosevelt His Ideal.

His glee was that of a child showing off his favorite toy. It was the glee of a Roosevelt showing his favorite rifle.

Pinchot resembles his old chief in more ways than one. He is a strong disciple of his progressive views. He is an ardent lover of the outdoors.

Add to this a bit of the intellectual side of Woodrow Wilson—for Pinchot is a scholar, a one-time college professor—and a bit of Lincoln—whom he resembles in stature and simplicity—and you have a composite view of the man.

But over all is a note distinctly Pinchot-esque. It is a note of plainness, kindness, tolerance. But there is no meekness. It is a note of strength, which is struck so often when the governor swings into his work. It was this note that resounded when he stepped in to settle the coal strike.

It was hard making Pinchot talk about himself. He would rather tell about the trees and streams. So we went into the woods. He said that he felt more at home there, than anywhere else.

Headed U. S. Forestry Service.
He is 58 years old. But his main interest is still the same of his youth—forestry. He studied it in college, rounded off his schooling with a foreign trip to investigate methods of forest preservation abroad. He joined the Bureau of Forestry, and later became its chief.

Together with Roosevelt, he originated the word "conservation" which since has come to be used to cover preservation not only of forest but all natural resources as well. In 1902 he became a professor of forestry at Yale. "But soon I realized that the best way to get a conservation policy," says Pinchot, "was through political means."

He joined the progressive faction of the Republican party. A strong admirer of Theodore Roosevelt, and one of his closest friends, Pinchot took an active lead in the formation of the progressive party.

During the Taft administration he had his famous controversy with Ballinger over conservation. When

IMPORTANCE TO INDUSTRIES OF METALS TOLD

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The rare metals are becoming increasingly important to American industries, the bureau of mines points out in a recent bulletin. Rare metal alloys have properties which indicate that the United States is only on the threshold of the possibilities of their utilization, not only in making nonferrous alloys, but also as special steels.

Not only are their uses broadening rapidly, but the metals also are affecting American industries in other ways. The oxides and some salts are used as pigments; others have medicinal value. The pure metals are made into filaments for incandescent lamps, and targets for X-ray tubes.

By their efficient use in alloys, the weight of automobiles is reduced, and the wear and tear on tires and roads is thus minimized; in machine shops they help to give greater efficiency to tools and reduce production costs. The development has marked a milestone in the progress of civilization.

There has been considerable uncertainty regarding analytical methods for the rare metals. A great deal has been published, but the weak and the strong points of the various methods have not been investigated as carefully as is needed.

The bureau of mines at its rare metals station in Colorado necessarily had to do a great deal of analytical work in connection with the metals covered by this bulletin, which aims to give the results of the experience so acquired. No claim for much originality is made, although some published methods have been modified, and some new ones have been developed by members of the staff.

that was over he dropped back into comparative obscurity, devoting himself to his forest work and fishing.

Pinchot came into the public eye a few years ago when he decided to run against Boies Penrose for the Senate. He was defeated.

Again he went back to his trees and fishing.

But Pinchot hadn't given up his fight. In the spring of 1922, when the state was preparing for its gubernatorial primaries, he plunged in again. This time he won.

Since he has been chief executive of his state, Pinchot has tackled the biggest issues of the day. It's part of his creed. "It is reprehensible," he says, "for any man in public life to sidestep any vital issue that arises—"

Just like quitting when you have a big fellow hooked when fishing.

FAMOUS STARS FAIL TO HIT GOLF FORM

Sarazen, Havers Far Down List In Fight For Cal. Open Tourney Title

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—The cracked up golf match between Arthur Havers, British open champion, and the famous Gene Sarazen threatens today to be a fiasco.

Havers, whose coming to America has been heralded to thousands who follow the greens, has been playing poor golf in the Southern California Championship tournament.

But the Englishman is a stoic. He never complains; never offers excuses for missing shots that anybody could forgive him for excusing. His failure here has been, in a philosophical way, almost as spectacular as his European victories.

Neither has Gene Sarazen, once a caddy and now America's greatest professional, come up to his usual game. Sarazen has a 150 for two days' play, and Havers a 164, both of which are higher than many of the California players.

The Sarazen-Havers match is supposed to be the last half of their just to decide the world's best professional and with both in such miserable form it is very likely to be disappointing.

On the other hand, it is pointed out that Havers and Sarazen may be just "getting by" until the test comes. Qualifying rounds often do not excite the big boys to their best strokes.

The only remark Havers vouchsafes is that he "can't judge distances." Sarazen says even less. Talking about your golf mistakes and failures isn't being down.

FORMER BEAVER SHORTSTOP PLEASES CHIEF

George Grantham, who has aroused William Veeck, president of the Chicago Cubs, to such enthusiasm, is credited with more putouts, more assists and more errors than any other player in the National League last year.

Veeck thinks Grantham, who used to make errors for Walter McCredie on the Portland Beavers, is so good he has given him a raise in pay and a new contract.

TROJAN BASKETERS LEAVE FOR BERKELEY

Since the prep season opened here, Los Angeles has more basketball games than Santa Ana has speed officers. But the important thing in basketball this week is the Trojan games with California Friday and Saturday nights.

For the first time U. S. C. has ambitions for the coast title. At least, that is what the dopesters figure. Coach Les Turner is silent. The games with the Bears will in a large measure determine the Trojan's chances.

COAST MOGULS DEPRIVE WILLIAMS OF VOTE

Depriving President Harry A. Williams of a vote in the Pacific Coast league was just what the new chief wanted. Williams, as a newspaperman, knew a lot more about what was good for the circuit than did some of the managers. A lot of fans believe it has been his belief for some time that voting power should rest with the owner—who pays the bills.

Asheville, the new member of the South Atlantic loop, is getting together a promising team in anticipation of its debut in the Sally league next spring.

Star Yale Gridder To Lead Blue Team In Hockey Matches

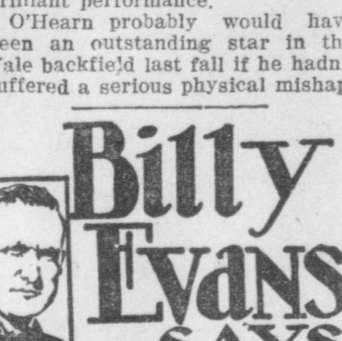

CHARLEY O'HEARN

Forced to the sidelines in football with a cracked ankle, Charley O'Hearn, Yale's most versatile athlete, is now back in harness leading the Blue hockey team.

O'Hearn got into competitive action for the first time this season in a recent match against the Cleveland collegians and gave a brilliant performance.

O'Hearn probably would have been an outstanding star in the Yale backfield last fall if he hadn't suffered a serious physical mishap.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

Has the pitching in the major leagues gone back so much, or is it the conditions under which the twirlers are compelled to work, that has cut down their effectiveness? Every major league manager is looking for pitchers. A majority of the big league leaders are satisfied with the rest of their team but not one is willing to stand pat on his pitching.

I am inclined to think that the pitcher is the man who has been greatly minimized their effectiveness, rather than loss of ability.

GO BACK A HALF DOZEN OR MORE years and the records will prove that the pitcher ruled supreme. Pitchers' battles were the rule rather than the exception, as is now the case. Not satisfied with the margin they held, the pitchers began to experiment with freak or illegal deliveries in order to further increase their effectiveness. These freak deliveries which placed the batsman at a decided disadvantage were the undoing of the pitchers, and created the condition that now exists in baseball, the supremacy of the batsman.

Late last season President Johnson in an effort to cut down the ball expense of the American league brought out some interesting facts in connection with major league pitching.

The expense for baseballs used during the course of an entire season back 20 years was about $5000 for the entire American league. According to President Johnson, the expense in 1922 for the American league was around $35,000. Some increase. In about August of 1923 it became evident to President Johnson that the expense for 1923 would rival that of 1922. He decided on an immediate curtailment in the use of baseballs, and sent out a bulletin to his umpires that far more care should be used in tossing balls out of play.

While President Johnson's move was made purely in business standpoint, the throwing out of fewer balls had a decided change in the pitching. During the last two months of the season it was far more effective.

For several years the pitcher has been compelled to pitch a new ball almost constantly. In the old days it was not unusual for an umpire to finish a major league game with from six to eight balls. For several years from two to four dozen have been used in every big league game. During the last two months of the 1923 season American league umpires kept every ball in play until it became absolutely unfit. As a result, the grade of pitching immediately showed improvement. Not compelled to use a new ball almost entirely, such a ball being difficult to grip, thereby cutting down the break on the ball, the pitchers at once perked up and held their own. The old ball helped restore confidence.

Pitching is certain to be much improved in the American league next year, as President Johnson will again insist his umpires carry out his instructions as to care in throwing out balls, such a bulletin having cut down expenses and bettered the pitching, two much desired results.

PUT PADDOCK CASE BEFORE COMMITTEE

Sprint Champion Preparing Application For A. A. U. Reinstatement

BY HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Pressure brought on the A. A. U. to hear the Paddock case and settle the question of the eligibility of the California sprinter brought word officially today that the case will be put before a special committee just as soon as Paddock applies for reinstatement.

Paddock, according to information received from the west, has prepared his application with great care and is prepared to present it soon to Robert S. Weaver, A. A. U. official, who is acting for the union in California.

Fireworks Missing

Instead of providing a lot of fireworks, the hearing of the case may result in a very quiet announcement that Paddock is eligible to compete in the Olympic games providing he can make the team.

It is assumed, of course, that Paddock will have to compete in the trial events and that he will not be appointed to a place on the team because of his past performance.

The demand was made some time ago by the A. A. U. for an apology by Paddock, but it is understood now that he will not be asked to humiliate himself and that his application for reinstatement will be accepted as an admission that he was in the wrong.

May Have Competition

Paddock has been out of competition so long that some very good judges of track athletics feel that he may not have a cinch in winning a place on the team.

Virtually all of the sprinters who have ambitions to go to Paris next summer are now in training, and most of them are going to compete in the big indoor games as preliminary training.

Paddock, however, is going to continue his lecture work and it will be impossible for him to start training until early spring. The injury he sustained recently in a basketball game probably would make it unwise to do any serious training until it has been established that his ankle is sound again.

CITY MANAGER COMING

"In previous discussions of the situation" (with reference to revising the bookkeeping system of the city of Santa Ana), "it has been intimated that the Board of Trustees may give serious consideration to the appointment of a city manager."

In making the foregoing paragraph, from a news article in Monday's Register, the text for an editorial, it is not intended to place the City Trustees on record as favoring the city manager form of government—indeed, it is not necessary to do so, for at least a majority of the present City Board of Trustees is already on record in favor of that method of handling the business of the city, through its endorsement of the proposed new city charter, which was rejected about a year ago by the voters.

However, it seems entirely fitting to take special note of and consider carefully the importance and significance of the fact that the Board is seriously considering even the possibility of adopting the city manager form of government in spite of the rejection of the charter which provided therefore. Of course many of those who voted against the charter did so for other reasons than that it provided for the city manager form of government, but undoubtedly many opponents of the charter based their opposition on that provision.

That Santa Ana will have to be provided with a city manager very soon is an incontrovertible fact, fully recognized by a large majority of those who are most familiar with city affairs. Either we shall have to provide a real mayor, with a salary which will command the exclusive services of a man competent to act as city manager, or a city manager will have to be employed by the City Trustees. The business of this city is too big and important and complicated to be efficiently managed by a Board of Trustees who receive the munificent salary of $25,000 a month each, and who, therefore, can give but a small portion of their time to the city's affairs. It is greatly to their credit that members of the board now give to the service of the city perhaps ten times as much time and thought and effort as they are paid for. Only a high sense of the duties and responsibilities of citizenship, and a large love for loyalty for their home city, actuates and enables them to do so. These men owe it to themselves and their own families, and in much larger measure to the city, at large, to provide as soon as possible for a thoroughly competent, well paid city manager—a man who has been trained for that kind of work. In no other way can the business of a rapidly growing city the size of Santa Ana be efficiently and economically managed.

HASTEN THIS PAVING

It is to be hoped that the county will offer no delays in advancing the paving of West Seventeenth street. At the meeting of the Board of City Trustees Monday evening this week the city authorities took the stand that the city's action in the matter would be withheld until after the county had bound itself to paving West Seventeenth to the west of the city limits. This was done for the reason that one of the signers for the paving of Seventeenth inside the city limits had signed with the stipulation that the county also pave.

The city authorities were perfectly within their rights and were entirely right in taking action to see to it that the conditions under which signatures were secured were met. But why should one, either county or city, wait upon the other? The paving by one is bound to encourage the other, and paving of this street, both inside and outside of the city, is bound to come. So, why not now?

An effort ought to be made to have the property owner release the condition so that the city could proceed with paving at once. West Seventeenth street is already an important street for travel between Santa Ana and the sections to the northwest. Paving of the street will increase the importance of the street as well as raise property values along it. And there ought to be no delay that can possibly be avoided.

THRIFT WEEK AND YOURSELF

There isn't much use of discussing Thrift Week without making personal application of its lessons. "Certainly," you say, "thrift is essential to prosperity, to good habits, to safety."

But have you, a resident of Santa Ana, or Orange, or Tustin or any of the other communities of Orange county, thought of doing for yourself the things that are to be advocated throughout the United States during the week, starting tomorrow, designated as Thrift Week?

It is not enough to merely say that thrift is a fine thing. If thrift is worth anything at all it is worth taking home.

It is all right for the other fellow, to be sure, and it is all right for you, too.

A TRAVELLING NATION

Not all the travelers are going from the northern belt to the southern sunshine this winter. It is reported from New York that an almost unprecedented stream of tourists is headed for European lands and for cruises on the Mediterranean. In fact, the sailings resemble in number a mid-June exodus.

Business and pleasure are about equally responsible for the call to foreign climes. Political isolation apparently has little to do with personal international relationships.

Here, too, is further evidence of the fact that traveling is becoming a favorite American pastime, whether it is done at home or abroad, in the conventional "vacation season" or in any other season of the year. Almost everybody travels in autos or otherwise, somewhere, some time, for periods brief or extended, and the experience is good for the whole nation.

NATIONAL WEALTH

The Census Bureau is engaged in adding up the total wealth of the United States. Unofficial guesses give from $300,000,000,000 to $400,000,000,000. The official estimate will probably be somewhere between those limits.

Suppose it is $350,000,000,000—or to put it in more understandable words, 350 billions, which is 350 thousand millions. That is a fine, big sum to roll off the tongue. It is just about twice the estimated wealth of the country's lands, mines, forests, buildings, railroads, etc., back in 1912.

Not that the wealth of the country has really doubled in a decade. Most of this increase is the result of higher prices and the lower purchasing power of the dollar which does the measuring. A cheaper dollar makes the wealth look bigger in figures than it is actually. But there has been a huge intrinsic gain, in spite of the war losses. And at the present time the riches of this blessed land are rolling up with unprecedented rapidity.

America is worth as much now, in the open market, as almost the whole of Europe, and probably more than Asia and Africa together.

This fact in itself shows some interesting things about wealth. Wealth, it appears, is not a matter of area, nor of population, nor even of material resources. If it were area alone, Canada would be as rich, instead of less than one-tenth as rich. If population alone, Asia would be far richer. If resources alone, Africa would be richer.

Population is essential; also land. After that, national wealth depends on the kind of people that make the nation. It is a product of brains, character and energy, using the earth and its contents merely as materials and instruments.

Our real wealth is our inhabitants. Put the American people on another continent, and there would soon be a new America.

Getting Down to Details

San Bernardino Sun

Call for a conference of Coolidge Republican supporters in the Eleventh Congressional district at Riverside next Saturday is issued, to suggest candidates for delegates to the Republican National convention. That may be more or less a bit of supererogation, for we chance to know that the paternal interest taken in this district by certain Los Angeles political managers caused them to perform that duty months ago, and they notified people in this county that John D. Spreckles of San Diego, C. C. Chapman of Orange, and Frank A. Miller of Riverside would make an ideal set of candidates for delegates from this district in the interest of President Coolidge's candidacy. They would, and they are all Republicans of standing, although it left no very pleasant taste in the mouth of Coolidge leaders in this county to find that they were only consulted after selections had been made. Of course the matter may be of small importance after the May primary, for the Johnson group of delegates will certainly be sent to Cleveland to speak for the California Republicans.

However, we want the Coolidge Republicans in this county to have "all that is coming to them" in any conference, and they will be interested to know that in the gathering scheduled at Riverside next Saturday, the apportionment is as follows: San Diego County, 10; Orange, 6; San Bernardino, 6; Riverside, 5; Imperial, 3. Inyo and Mono do not seem to have been provided for. It is announced that the representation has been assigned "somewhat according to registration at the last State election." Having looked up which, we register the guess that some Riverside gentlemen were present when the assignment was made, for while it is perhaps not greatly important, that county gets none the worst of it in the apportionment. Registration in 1922 in the district was as follows:

	Republican	Total
Inyo	2,017	3,652
Imperial	6,090	11,793
Mono	331	493
Orange	19,584	31,317
Riverside	12,891	19,905
San Bernardino	18,746	33,081
San Diego	34,080	55,348

Perhaps no contests are at stake, but it is easy to see that the apportionment does not very closely follow the registration, either Republican or total, and likewise it would not be difficult to guess that if there are any contests a combination of San Diego and Riverside counties will dominate the conference.

Whether any San Bernardino County Republicans who favor the renomination of President Coolidge are going to the Cleveland convention or not we are not advised, but in view of the size of the county, the strength of its Republican vote, and the fact that it has not been represented in a Republican National convention for a number of years, it would be entitled to a candidate for delegate on both the Coolidge and the Johnson tickets.

Presumably the Coolidge County organization will name delegates to the Riverside conference before next Saturday.

That Body of Yours

NOT AN IMAGINARY TROUBLE

Many years ago I met a man in Baltimore who greatly aroused my sympathy. He had clammy palms, his heart seemed to be going like a trip hammer, he seemed tired out all the time, and complained of a continuous headache. I got in touch with a couple of physicians who had treated him at various times and their only comment was—

"He only thinks he's sick. There's nothing really wrong with him." I therefore tried to reason with him and pointed out the necessity of taking hold of himself for the sake of his family and himself. When I returned to Baltimore some years later I enquired about him and found that he had died about a year after I had left. "And the cause?" I asked.

Oh, he just seemed to be so tired that he died. They have a scientific name for this now, and call it Neurasthenia. Are the symptoms all in the man's mind? No.

He actually has the headache which is with him all day until he goes to sleep at night. That is if he gets off to sleep, because sleeplessness is usually one of the distressing symptoms. And the tiredness all over?

Yes he is actually tired all over, and it is not in his imagination only. Besides this, he suffers from cold and hot feelings over different parts of his body, from indigestion, and a heart that beats over one hundred times a minute. And his mind?

He finds it hard to concentrate on anything for any length of time. Do these people get better?

Yes, because the cause of the trouble is very often found. The trouble is due to actual tiredness of the nerves.

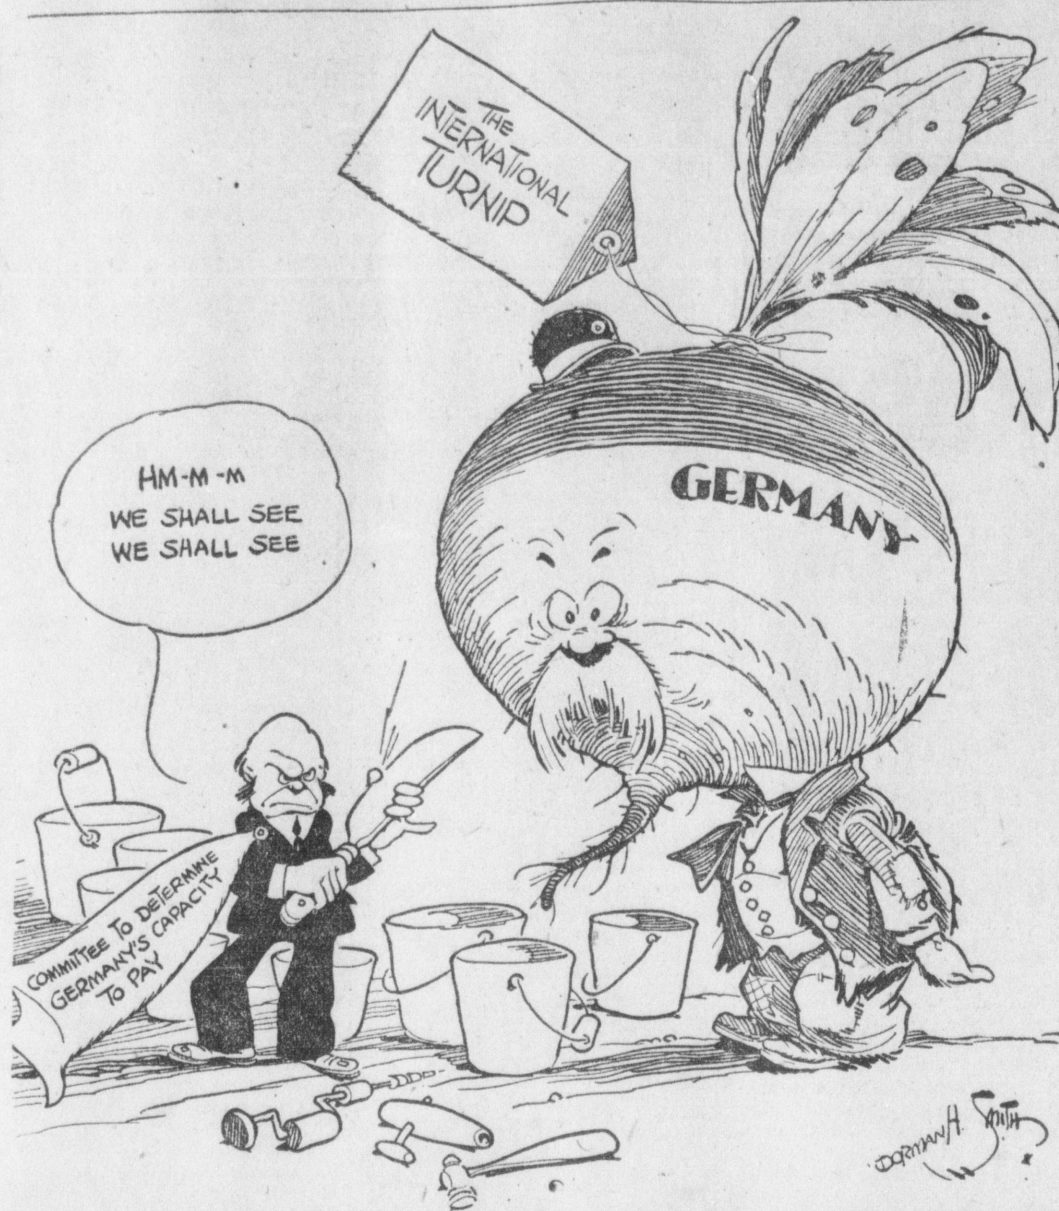

They are worn out by hard work and little sleep, hard play and little sleep, worry, grief, emotional disturbances of various kinds.

The physician today goes into the history of the man's everyday life for months, even years back. He finds that the man has broken all the laws of health and common sense, in the care of his body.

By the simple measures of change of work and diet, and a little more of the sunlight and exercise he gets his patient into normal condition again.

Remember, over play can wear out the nerves just as easily as overwork.

What Is This Stuffed With?

Unamerican Propaganda

The Delineator

It is a habit of thought to condemn that which we do not approve. We can go a step further and find even educated men and women condemning all they do not understand.

Nations, like individuals, are human institutions, and therefore vulnerable. But the recent attacks upon America, both inside her borders and abroad, came chiefly from strongholds of prejudice or blind hatred, or from thoughtless, short-sighted men who have a clever gift for catch-phrases.

England's newly recognized poet, Sir William Watson, is credited with having written some verses "To America's Statue of Liberty." There is a catch-phrase in his lines:

How strange at last thy doom—
Liberty's image,

These lines will be caught up by men and women who are opposed to some of the laws that have been enacted by vote of the people; but lyrical though they be, there is no truth in their taunt.

A foreign paper gloats over the story of an American entering New York harbor on a French steamer and pointing out the statue of Liberty. "Ah!" said a Frenchman sympathetically, "we, too, rear monuments to our illustrious dead."

This is propaganda—un-American propaganda. It is even worse; it is anti-American. The soul of the nation today is the same as the spirit which the king of the Belgians felt twenty-five years ago, when he came here and worked as a laborer in order to understand the nation which was drawing from all other nations.

This was his conclusion: "They (immigrants) seek this land because they have an opportunity to work and progress, but chiefly because their children will have a chance to rise in this country."

America is freer today than she has been at any time since her birth.

Let us not confuse the passion of individuals with the voice of the people, or the cry of "oppression" with the banshee of freedom. The laws on the books have been written by the people themselves. There is no clique, no group, no individual dictating to the free people of this land.

MY NATIVE LAND

Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said:

"This is my own—my native land!"
Whose heart hath ne'er within him burned,

As home his footsteps he hath turned
From wandering on a foreign strand?

If such there breathe, go, mark him well;
For him no minstrel raptures swell;

High though his title, proud his name,
Boundless his wealth as wish can claim—

Despite those titles, power, and pelf,
The wretch, concentrated all in self,

Living, shall forfeit fair renown,
To the vile dust from whence he sprang,

Unwept, unhonored, and unsung.

ARTICLE NO. 12

Deduction for business expenses from the largest claim in the returns of many taxpayers. All the ordinary and necessary expenses incurred in carrying on any business, trade, profession, or vocation are allowable deductions.

Typical expenses of a mercantile establishment are amounts paid for hire of employees, rent, light, heat and water, telephone, advertising, insurance, delivery expenses, the cost of operating delivery wagons and motor trucks, and incidental repairs to such vehicles. The expenses of a manufacturing business include labor, raw material, light, heat, and power, selling cost, administration, and similar charges.

A professional man may claim as deductions the cost of supplies used by him in his practice, expenses paid in the operation and repair of an automobile used in a professional calls, dues to a professional society, subscriptions to professional journals, office rent, the expenses of fuel, light, water, and telephone used in his office, and the hire of assistants.

The farmer may deduct all amounts paid in the production and harvesting of his crops, including labor, cost of seed, and fertilizer used, cost of minor repairs to farm buildings (but not the dwelling), fences, machinery, and small tools used up in the course of a year or two.

Traveling expenses, when the trip is solely on business, including the entire cost of meals and lodgings while away from home, are deductible.

Deductions for business expenses must have certain qualities to be allowed. They must relate to a business, trade, profession, or vocation in which the taxpayer has invested time or money for the purpose of a livelihood or profit. A business may be carried on by a taxpayer, even if all its activities are conducted by employees. A taxpayer may conduct more than one trade or business and claim a deduction for the business expenses of each, provided he devotes sufficient time and attention to each.

A. or other religious and social service, the Register will publish under this heading, a series of articles setting forth the principles and policies of this great agency of social service.]

A Great Educational Factor

The Y. M. C. A. educational work has grown in recent years to a place where the Association has become one of the great educational factors of the nation.

From the beginning, its leaders have recognized the importance of intellectual training, and of good reading matter. The familiar Y. M. C. A. reading room, with its newspapers and magazines, has become an accepted feature of the work in all places. The earlier associations also provided libraries, but with the growth of free public libraries in all our cities, this was discontinued, and the members encouraged to use the public libraries.

Vocational training and part time education, if not invented by the Y. M. C. A., came very near to it. Night schools were established many years ago by the associations, to enable men to secure better educational preparation while continuing to earn a living. Practical talks and lectures on educational subjects, particularly in the line of vocational guidance for the younger men, have always been featured.

Today, while in most cities the public schools have taken over a great part of the night school work, the Y. M. C. A. still carries on. In all the larger cities, night and day schools, and trade and professional schools are maintained. Los Angeles and San Francisco both have night schools, including dental, automotive, and other modern lines of work. Boston and Chicago have developed what amount now to regular colleges for men, and thousands of men each year are helped to an education.

To help men out of reach of the cities, the United Y. M. C. A. Schools movement was instituted a few years ago, to give home study advantages to men all over the land, and scores of thousands of men have enrolled for work in these practical courses by correspondence.

In Santa Ana, it is hardly probable that any extensive night school work will be undertaken at first, but special courses of lectures and instruction on lines which are now offered locally will be given. Salesmanship, public speaking, advertising, industrial management, commercial law, and similar subjects, are frequently offered as special features for those who are interested.

Instruction in English for foreigners, and work for the illiterate of our people, were lines early taken up by the Y. The first practical course of English for "coming Americans" was worked out about twenty years ago by Dr. Peter Roberts, of the International Committee, and his method has become a standard method for all such instruction. The local Y will no doubt co-operate with the schools and other agencies in work among foreign speaking people.

It is one of the advantages of Y. M. C. A. work that its methods are so flexible that they can be adopted to meet needs as they arise. It is safe to say that within the next twelve months, the Santa Ana Y will find channels of usefulness that cannot be even guessed at now, and that it will be carrying on work that ought to be done, when the opportunity is discovered.

It is a fixed policy not to attempt to duplicate work that is being well done, but to assist and co-operate with other agencies in such work, and to discover ways to meet new needs that are not being handled.
